GOV.-GENERAL OF PHILIPPINES DEAD

NATION MOURNS LOSS OF GENERAL LEONARD A. WOOD

Sudden Death of the Distinguished American Follows Operation At Hospital In Boston, Mass.—Brilliant Career As Soldier Is Begun With Medical Service In Indian War—Highest Command Is Won—Will Be Given Military Funeral Honors Tuesday, With Rest At Arlington Amidst "Rough Rider" Comrades.

Military and official Washington prepared Sunday to pay a "last salute" to one of the nation's outstanding soldiers, Major General Leonard Wood, who died in the early morning hours at Boston.

With colors at half mast the army that he served for more than two score years sorrowfully made arrangements for his burial Tuesday in Arlington National cemetery, Washington, alongside of his comrades of the Spanish-American war.

General Wood's body leaves Boston, accompanied by a military guard of six soldiers from Fort Banks under Captain Roger Williams. Present plans call for Mrs. Wood to accompany the body.

The body will arrive in Washington early Tuesday morning and, under present plans of the war department, will be taken immediately to the cemetery.

Along Pennsylvania avenue and the winding road to Arlington across the Potomac river the military escort from Boston will be supplemented by the 3d Cavalry, the 16th field artillery, a battalion of infantry and a detachment of engineers.

The burial in Arlington will be at the request of Mrs. Wood who asked that the body be placed in a little plot reserved for members of the "Rough Riders" regiment, which he commanded during the war with Spain.

Speaking in behalf of the war department, Assistant Secretary MacNider in a message to Mrs. Wood, said that "every citizen who has our good at heart mourns with you."

"The army of the United States stands at last salute to a great soldier, a great administrator and a great American."

The secretary also issued a statement reviewing the many tasks the general had undertaken for the nation, declaring that besides being "an able military leader," he was a citizen of great prominence whose field of activity extended much beyond the army with which he was customarily identified.

Thru the long struggle General Wood had the full support of President Harding, who appointed him Secretary Weeks and President Coolidge. The administration at home declined to interfere with his work, holding that he was competent and capable and several of his acts which created furores in Manila were publicly approved.

The governor general also had the sympathy of the Moro chieftains and the Democratic party and finally was given unqualified indorsement by General Emilio Aguinaldo, the retired rebel chieftain, who declared General Wood had the interest of the Filipinos at heart.

Carmi Thompson, who went to the Philippines in 1926 as the personal envoy of President Coolidge, declared in his report that "on the whole General Wood to be commended for his efficient conduct of affairs during his administration."

Thompson, however, urged the breaking of the deadlock in Philippine rule resulting from the split between General Wood and the legislature and the removal of the "military atmosphere" in the insular executive branch of the government.

General Wood in a published article subsequently defended the appointment of army officers in his cabinet, declaring that the idea that regular officers were temperamentally unfit for civilian duty in peace time was erroneous.

Before becoming chief executive of the islands, General Wood investigated conditions there for President Harding and reported against the granting of independence. This report, made public after he became governor general, added fuel to the controversy that marked his administration.

Appointed an assistant surgeon several years prior to the Spanish-American war, Wood rose to the fore most rank of American generals, his active duty culminating in the governor generalship of the Philippine Islands after he had served four years as chief of the general staff of the army, the topmost military command.

While his rapid promotion, ascribed largely to his close friendship with Theodore Roosevelt, was the subject of frequent criticism in military circles, General Wood's service was recognized thruout the establishment as the highest type.

KNOCKED DOWN BY TRUCK.

A. F. Mowery, formerly of this city a brother of Mrs. Noah Weaver and Mrs. Bessie Long, of this city, was knocked down by a truck in Columbus Saturday afternoon, says the Columbus Dispatch. It is not known what the extent of his injuries are, but it is thought they are not serious.

INDICTED

The federal grand jury in Boston has handed down two indictments against John H. Diehl, above, who was in command of the City of Rome when it rammed and sank the submarine S-51, causing a loss of 27 lives. The indictments charge inattention and negligence, and failure to stand by after the crash.

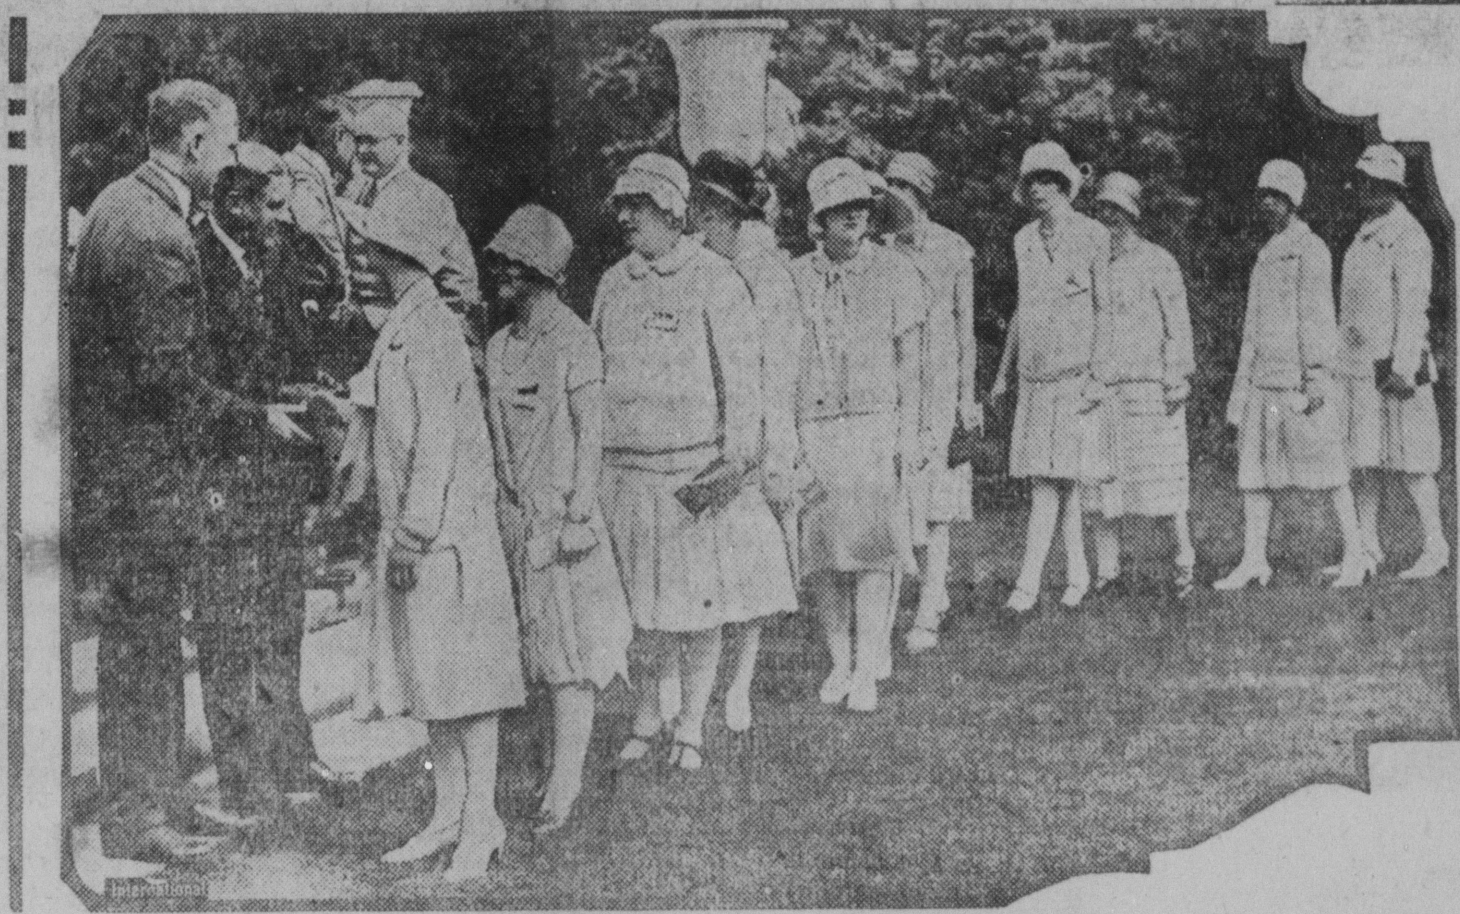

MAYOR'S COURT

James Toles was arrested Saturday evening on the charge of having a motor vehicle while intoxicated, a hard can of home brew in his possession. In police court, he was fined $100 and costs.

Arthur T. Rich was arrested at the Traction station. He had two pints of liquor and was fined $100 and the costs.

Joseph Gleach, arrested for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, was released on a bond of $150, to appear Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires
By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Wellsville — West Virginia state police were to start investigation today into the death of Dorothy Mercer, 6, whose body weighted down with rocks was found last night in a creek near her home at Congo, West Virginia.

Cleveland — Five dead and 15 injured was the weekend auto toll in Cuyahoga county, according to police figures today. Three persons were killed when their auto overturned near Steubenville. Two lost their lives at Newark when a B. & O. train struck an auto. Other fatal accidents were reported from Zanesville, Findlay, Springfield and Toledo.

Gallipolis — A survey of Gallia county farmers reveals that the bean crop has been badly damaged by beetles. Farmers estimate the damage at $5,000.

Cleveland — Allan Noel, 25, of Elyria, was held in county jail Monday in connection with the stabbing Sunday of Thomas Brown, 26, in a construction camp at Berea. Noel told county detectives Brown had been nagging him for several days and Sunday during a quarrel he picked up a butcher knife and stabbed him.

Columbus — Estate of the late Matilda Field, widow of the late Al G. Field, showman, goes to Fritz Fuerst of Munich, Germany, according to her will probated here. Fuerst will inherit $60,000.

Toledo — Three Toledoans were drowned, two other persons lost their lives in auto crashes and a score more were hurt in traffic crashes over the weekend.

Cleveland — P. K. Peterson today planned to go into the business of raising foxes to make up for the loss he sustained when his chicken farm was raided. After losing more than 100 chickens Peterson waited for the thief only to learn that a male and female fox and their young were responsible. He finally managed to capture one fox and now plans to trap another and raise foxes as a business.

No matter how badly the man turns out, the wife has the satisfaction of reflecting that she kept some other woman from getting him.

TWO COLUMBUS MEN INJURED IN CAR WRECK

Sunday When Auto Was Sideswiped on Walnut Creek Pike.

In an accident on the Walnut Creek pike Sunday evening about seven o'clock Frank Hillburner and Walter Hunt, of Columbus, were severely injured when their car was sideswiped by a passing machine and they were forced off the road. Their car, a Ford, ran into a ditch and struck a tree, demolishing the machine. Dr. G. W. Heffner was called and rendered temporary surgical aid. Mr. Hunt's shoulder was dislocated and Mr. Hillburner sustained cuts about the face and neck.

The identity of the automobile that sideswiped them is unknown. The injured men were taken to their homes in Columbus.

The accident occurred near the residence of Charles Barthelmas. The Mader & Ebert ambulance was called.

At Home in This City, Funeral Was Held Monday at Two O'clock.

Mrs. America Berg, of East Franklin street, died at her home Saturday evening following a three months' illness. Her death was due to senility. She was a member of the United Brethren church. The deceased was born in this city and was about 85 years of age. She was a daughter of Reuben and Lucinda Moore.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at her late home at 2 o'clock. Rev. E. A. Tovey officiated. Interment in Forest cemetery.

FAMILY REUNION.
The fifth annual reunion of the Bolender family will be held Sunday, August 14, at the home of Mr. Noah Bolender in Washington township.

The trouble with the state of matrimony is that it too often attempts to endure half slave and half free.

TROLLEY HITS AUTOS; TWO SUFFER INJURIES.

James Ray, 21, and Don Jones, 20, both of Oran, Maine, and Orville Winger, 21, Arbordale, Illinois, escaped serious injuries early Sunday when two automobiles in which they were riding on the National highway near Rome, west of Columbus, were struck by an Ohio electric traction car. Ray and Jones were in the first car that was struck and Winger was following directly behind them.

The men were taken to Mt. Carmel hospital, where they were treated for bruises and lacerations. Their conditions are not serious.

"TOMMY" RETIRES

SOCIAL CALENDAR

DEATH COMES TO G. W. GOINS TRAIN JUMPER

Skull Fractured and Foot
Cut Off by N. & W. Train
Sunday Afternoon.

G. W. Goins was fatally injured when he was struck by a southbound Norfolk & Western freight train Sunday evening about 7 o'clock. His skull was fractured, several ribs were broken and his left foot was cut off.

Some boys who found the injured man attempted to make a tourniquet out of wire and wrapped it around the injured man's leg to stop the flow of blood. They then called Albaugh's ambulance and he was removed to the Home and Hospital, where he expired about 10:30 o'clock.

Some difficulty was had in getting a physician to give the injured man medical attention but Dr. B. R. Bales was finally reached.

Undertaker Fred C. Clark notified the police authorities of Columbus, and all they could learn was that a couple by the name of Goins, lived in the rear of 1245 East Twelfth avenue, but no one was at that address.

The man is about 54 years of age. Apparently he was working his way south.

The following notations were found in a note book on the dead man's body: "July 13, 1927, My Name is Geo. Goins. I reside at 1245 Twelfth ave., Columbus; wife's name is Lillian. You will find her on Tuesday's at 181 15th ave., at the home of Mrs. W. M. Mills"

"August 1, 1927, not a mouthful of food in the house or a penny of money; "August 7, Chillicothe, fell off a northbound train and was bruised."

This last date was Sunday and it seems a brakeman ordered him off his train just north of the freight house and the man set down on the frog. The pilot on the engine of a southbound train hit him. He evidently was despondent and wanted to get out of the world.

Wandering Alligator

Finding an alligator in a rosebush in her garden, a Kansas City woman had what she described as the thrill of her life. The woman was clearing shrubbery from the rosebush when "something" snapped at her hand. She called neighbors. A crowd congregated. Some one obtained a rake and a "baby" alligator was taken from under the bush. The alligator was put in a box and turned over to the police department.

Jack Rabbits Do Damage to Crops

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Jack rabbits cause damage to large and small crops that amounts to several million dollars annually in some states. Control by means of the bounty system has not been very successful, although the expense has been great. In some counties in Kansas for example, bounties on jack rabbits totaled from $1,000 to $8,000 in 1926. Hunting the rabbits for meat and skins has its limitations. In many situations poisoning is the only practicable method of control, and now that the skins have a fair commercial value the poison method need no longer be considered wasteful.

Wheat Hurt Most

The most noticeable damage to jack rabbits is that done to wheat, since the rabbits often graze the winter wheat down to the roots, even pawing the earth away and biting at the crowns of the plants, as well as cutting the stalks after stem ripening begins. They are also constant feeders on growing alfalfa, although their grazing is seldom localized enough to be apparent. Such special crops as sugar beets, soy beans, melon patches, and others are also attacked, and the losses are easily seen. Five to eight jack rabbits are said to eat as much as one sheep, or an equivalent in the cattle and horses that might have been supported by the forage destroyed.

Regarded as Game Animal

Since the jack rabbit is regarded as a game animal, it is not desirable to exterminate it completely, as is the case of the prairie dog, but adequate control is important. The rabbits themselves can be made to pay part of the cost of control, if used as a meat supplement in feeding poultry and hogs, says the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. Each fall and early in winter the eastern markets absorb several crops of rabbits for meat purposes. Recently there has arisen an active demand for jack-rabbit skins for use in manufacturing felt. At 45 to 60 cents per pound for dry skins, the return is 10 to 13 cents per skin. Carcasses for hog feed bring two or three cents each. The combined value of skin and carcass is a better return than bounties of five cents per rabbit, and if utilized as a new source of income will keep the rabbits reasonably in check.

Cows Require Grain Even When Pastures Are Good

Pastures and other conditions are ideal for dairy cows during May and June, but even then it pays to feed some grain to the heavy-producing cows, according to C. S. Rhode, dairy extension specialist of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois. It will keep them from losing flesh as fast as they otherwise would and will leave a lasting effect throughout the next lactation period. The grain ration that is fed may consist of two parts ground corn or barley and one part ground oats. A little cottonseed meal will tend to overcome the laxative condition which occurs when cows are first turned on succulent pasture.

Cows that are producing more than a pound of butter a day should get a pound of this grain mixture for every four pounds of milk produced daily. Cows that are producing less than a pound of butter a day will get along nicely on abundant pasture alone. The grass is palatable and succulent and supplies protein, minerals and vitamins.

As the season advances the composition of the common pasture grasses changes and the grain mixture should be changed accordingly. A grain mixture of 300 pounds of corn or barley, 300 pounds of bran, 200 pounds of linseed oil meal and 150 pounds of cottonseed meal may be used during this period. If silage and legume hay are fed in addition to grain the winter grain mixture could be used. Cows should get enough feed in addition to pasture to keep them from getting thin and from falling off in milk flow. The amounts of grain and roughage to feed may be determined by the above conditions.

Agricultural Notes

Many a farm dollar is lost in the scrap heap of uncared-for farm machinery.

True diversification in farming includes also cultivation of the fruits of the spirit.

Wether lambs sell for higher prices on the market than do ram lambs, and lambs which are docked bring more money than those which are not.

Only a little water should be allowed a horse heated from working until it is cooled off. It makes little difference whether a horse is watered before or after eating, the specialists say.

Valuable as it is, pasture alone will never grow desirable market hogs. It pays to feed a ration of farm grains balanced with skin milk, tankage or other protein concentrate in addition to pasture.

Aged Pine Cone

The department of paleontology at the University of California has received a pine cone in perfect condition that is probably two million years old, although it is of a species still existing. The tree which bore the cone was buried in a lava flow and thus preserved. A prospector in Placer county found the cone and sent it to the university.

CONDITION OF
OUR AFFAIRS
IS DISCUSSED

Chairman Fred W. Warner
Speaks of the Ills That Af-
flict Us and Prescribes.

Fred W. Warner, chairman of the Republican state central committee, analyses the conditions which, in his opinion has led to the present unsettled condition of affairs in both the state and nation. He is open in his criticism of those things which he believes demand the application of a severe remedy, and points out with unsparing honesty the needs by which conditions may be remedied.

Mr. Warner makes no plea for the Republican party, but speaks of matters in a general way as applicable to both Republican and Democratic affairs and avoids any implication that he is speaking as the leader of the Republican forces in Ohio.

It is the first statement of this character Mr. Warner has issued, in it he says:
"The present governmental chaos in the state of Ohio and of the national government can be attributed largely to two causes, the lack of party unity and insufficient salaries paid to public servants.

"The press, in the various editorials of the leading newspapers of the country are spending a great amount of space in deploring the present state of affairs, with no mention of the cause that has produced them. They are calling our attention to the terrible state of affairs that has existed, and apparently is now existing in the state of Indiana, where a man is brought from the prison cell to relate the ways and means employed in procuring the election of public servants. Two of our great states are being threatened with having their senators refused seats in the national congress. Employees and chief enforcement officers in our own state are being charged with all kinds of criminal offenses, imputing moral depravity, and no mention is made of the laws and methods creating these conditions.

"Candidates for office will spend days and weeks and use all the influence of their friends to procure endorsement of the K. K. K. Anti-saloon League, Ohio Council of Churches, Manufacturers associations
Labor Unions, etc., and make no effort—in fact they seem to feel that the endorsement of a political organization would cause them an injury.
If the political leaders, or those whose duty it is to guide the affairs of the political party were to make an endorsement, they would immediately be assailed as "Bosses."

"The newspapers of the country should either make the selection, or permit it to be done by someone else.

"With reference to the compensation paid to public servants; I would like very much to have the citizens generally to compare the salaries of the public officials with the income received by men in positions of similar importance, in private life. The little city of Marion, of some 30,000 inhabitants pays its superintendent of public schools as much money as the great state of Ohio is paying the director of education for the entire state.

"We expect to procure high grade servants on our various commissions by the payment of salaries that in no wise compare to the salaries paid third rate officers in private institutions of comparatively small capitalization. Apparently we are employing public servants as hat girls are employed in the larger hotels—we furnish them with room and rather expect them to receive a compensation by way of tips. Never will we be able to procure clean, courageous, able servants in this way. Our recent way experience should have taught us that some of our 'dollar-a-year-men' was the most expensive service ever received by the state and nation; and, in the words of Will Rogers, 'Lets pay them what they are really worth and save our money.'

George U. Marvip.

Salute of Joy
Feu de Jole, a French expression meaning literally fire of joy, is a running discharge of firearms as a mark of rejoicing. A discharge of seven guns is thrice followed by a sequence of rifle shots proceeding from end to end of the ranks.

Theory vs. Practice
A "sham battle" would be a great relief to the mind if there were any assurance that a real battle would follow the pattern it lays down with any degree of respect.—Washington Star.

DOES
Have Overrun Woods of Pennsylvania—Remedy Sought
In Senate.

So many does are running the wilderness of Pennsylvania that some measure will have to be undertaken to rid the woods of them. A bill introduced in the senate proposes that for 10 days next December the sportsmen protect all bucks and fawns, shooting only does.

Sentimental reasons forbid the killing of does to the Pennsylvania hunters, who, since the buck law was passed some 20 years ago, have come to look upon the mothers of the herds as sacred. In Mifflin County alone, wardens found 27 dead fawns in the woods. More than that number of dead fawns were found in Lycoming County. They came of a weak strain due to mating young and immature bucks with old does. Nature steps in to adjust the balance in the herd where the great excess of females exist. In Cumberland County the females outnumber the bucks 40 to 1.

Honeymoons by AirPopular in England

London.—Many more women use the airplane service between England and the continent than men. There has been a large increase in the number of young honeymooners who travel by air rather than put up with the discomforts of cross-channel steamer travel. Close observers say that the women seem much more at home several thousand feet in the air than the male passenger. Increased facilities for flying now make it possible for the wealthy woman to leave Croydon in the morning, fly to Paris for shopping, and be back in England in time for dinner. Several well-known society women have made several such trips this season.

OF STRAITS OF GIBRALTAR

Spanish Economist Sees Vast Possibilities in Harnessing Powerful Stream.

Madrid.—The currents passing from the Atlantic ocean into the Mediterranean sea, and vice versa, produce an enormous power that could be used and transformed into electricity, according to Don Emilio Zurano Munzo, prominent Spanish economist, who has completed a preliminary study of the question, and submitted it to King Alphonso XIII.

Zurano calculated that one current going through the Strait of Gibraltar, coming from the Atlantic ocean and carrying a yearly volume of 26,000 cubic kilometers of water, at an average speed of ten kilometers per hour, and the other current crossing underneath from the Mediterranean into the ocean, with a yearly volume of 3,000 cubic kilometers saturated with salt, can be turned into a formidable continual electric power of over 30 milliards of horse power.

In the document addressed to the king, Zurano said the maximum power lies in the bay west of Algiers, but that power is also available in other points on both sides of the strait.

Explaining the course of energy there, Zurano pointed out that to get an appropriate idea of the water flowing every year into the Mediterranean sea, one must imagine a huge cube of water three times and one-third higher than Mount Everest running at 800,000 cubic meters of water per second. Adding the subcurrent which furnishes 95,000 cubic meters of water per second, the constant electrical power obtainable reaches 36,690,000, 000 horse power.

Kiss in the Dark GetsFreedom for Prisoner

Paris.—A kiss in the dark got a Frenchman out of prison the other day.

The prisoner, Fritz Gabriel, had been behind the bars for two years and had several more to serve. His wife came to see him. At the leavetaking in the dark corridor Gabriel and his wife embraced with especial warmth, the parting kiss being so movie-like in length that the guards noticed it and were moved.

Gabriel had a slip of paper in his check. It passed his wife's lips during the embrace. On the paper was written:

"Tomorrow, during the recreation hour, I will jump over the wall. Have a vehicle waiting for me on the other side of the moat."

Mrs. Gabriel had the vehicle. Her husband got away and hasn't been heard of since.

Odd Styles FeatureWeddings in Africa

Boma, Belgian Congo.—Natives of the remote Kasai region of Africa have taken a liking to the fashions of civilization.

"The first converted native couples I married," said Father Achille de Munster, a missionary in the district for the last 20 years, "wore nothing but a loin cloth. But you should see them now. Recently I married 15 couples. They all sported white suits and the brides wore shoes and hats and their black faces were hierally powdered white.

"Some had on one white shoe and one black. They seemed to think that was the height of chic."

One bridegroom, Father Munster said, fainted from the heat and his costume of two pairs of trousers, two shirts, two vests, two coats and a tight collar.

Cattle Become Wildon Alaskan Island

Kodiak, Alaska.—Three hundred and fifty shorthorn cattle browse over the mountainous surface of tiny Chilikof island, 200 miles out in the northern Pacific ocean from Kodiak.

More than 40 years ago the Alaska Commercial company, a development concern long since extinct, stocked the island with a few head of tame cattle for experimental purposes. On the little isle with a surface of only 20 square miles, the cattle have degenerated from inbreeding and have become thoroughly wild, but the herd continues to thrive. Alaskans say the experiment at least has proved that cattle can be grown in the region.

82 Years of Age.

Alexander M. Clark died at his home, 339 East Union street, Monday morning, August 8, at 10:30 o'clock.

The deceased was born in Ireland, May 28, 1845, and was a son of William Thomas Clark and Elizabeth Henderson Clark.

He came to this city January, 1926 and was a contractor by occupation. He married Miss Elizabeth Kohl at Sandusky, April 2, 1911.

The deceased was a veteran of the Civil war serving in Company M, 12th regiment O. V. I. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

One son and three daughters survive. They are Russell M. Clark, of Detroit, Michigan; Mrs. Lovella Myers, of Columbus; Mrs. Ometta Ruff, of this city and Miss Ida May Clark of Huntington, West Virginia.

Of his immediate family one brother and one sister are living. They are Mrs. M. L. Coneard and Samuel Clark, of Columbus. Ten grandchildren and four great-grandchildren survive.

The funeral arrangements have not been made.

RIOTERS ON BOSTON COMMON

Sacco and Vanzetti Meeting
Dispersed by the Police--
Speaker Was Arrested

A protest meeting of more than 10,000 sympathizers of Nicola Sacco and Barolomeo Vanzetti, ended in a riot on Boston Common, late Sunday.

Mounted and foot police surged down on the crowd and notified the speakers that the meeting could not go on.

Harry Cantor, chairman of the meeting, was speaking from a box when Michael Crowley, police superintendent, notified him that the permit for the meeting had been revoked.

"The police have just informed us that our permit has been revoked," shouted Cantor, "but I think the meeting should go on."

Cantor immediately was jerked from the box and rushed thru the crowd by a half dozen officers.

A riot call was sent in and scores of patrolmen poured over the commons and thru the crowd. Several persons were knocked down. A number of officers drew their clubs. Police had a hard time clearing the commons.

In addition to Cantor they arrested Edwin H. James, wealthy sympathizer of Sacco and Vanzetti, and Alfred Friedman, one of the leaders.

A movement was started by the crowd to storm the state house, just across the street, and a great human tide swept in that direction but was checked by police.

Out to Win Freak Wager

She Feels Doctors

After lying in a hospital at Springfield, Mass., for six months, paralyzed from the waist down by a bullet which severed her spinal column, a woman now is on the road to recovery. Physicians operated at the time, but expected her death with a few days. They say there is no similar case on record.

Lord Made Lots of Them

There are probably three and one-half million kinds of insects in the world, say the scientists, and this doesn't include the kind that thinks the girls are all crazy about him.—Capper's Weekly.

CONSTANT WAR ON
THE CLOTHES MOTH

Insect Pest Always Enemy
of Mankind.

The necessities of life for civilized man are food, shelter and clothing. The insignificant clothes moth has for thousands of years affected the customs of human beings by attacking one of the necessities of life, wool, the principal material that man uses to conserve the heat of his body, writes Prof. Harold S. Colton in the Scientific Monthly. That the moth was a pest to the ancient Hebrews the Bible testifies in many places, but in no place does it give a hint as to how the people reacted toward the moth, except in horror.

Aristotle, at the time of Alexander the Great, in his "History of Animals," book 5, chapter 26, however, does give us a hint. "There are other small animals," says he, "... some of which occur in wool and woolen goods, as the ses (clothes moth), and these animals come in the greatest numbers when the wool is dusty." We infer by this that the housekeeper in the Greece of Alexander the Great brushed clothes to keep out the moths.

From the writings of that good old Roman country squire, Marcus Porcius Cato, known in history as the elder Cato, we learn that clothes stored in a box in which amara has been rubbed will be safe from moths. I wondered for a while what amara could be, until in the works of the Roman agriculturist, Varro, I found that it is a substance prepared from the watery dregs of olives after the oil has been extracted. This liquid, after being reduced by boiling to one-third its bulk, is recommended as a disinfectant, a sheep dip, a cattle food and a fertilizer—surely a handy thing to have around the house.

With Pliny (70 A. D.) the methods of conservation became more and more fanciful. "A suit of clothes placed upon a coffin will be forever proof against the teeth of moths." Recipes of this sort were common in the Middle ages. A few dead Spanish flies (a kind of beetle) suspended in a house will drive away moths, while clothes "wrapped in the skin of a lion have nothing to fear." We have no way of judging how many housewives followed these methods. In France, about 1737, we know from Reaumur that it was the custom of housewives to beat and brush their hangings at least once a year and store their clothes in boxes with pine cones.

PRIZE ESSAY CONTEST WAS INTERESTING

Miss Amy Barr, of Circleville Was Among Two Thousand Who Participated.

Keen interest was shown by residents of this city in the $2,000 cash prizes essay contest conducted by the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages on the subject; "Why Bottled Carbonated Beverages are Good and Good for you," according to information received today from the Bottlers' National association headquarters at Washington.

Ten capital prizes ranging from $1,000 to $20 were awarded. In addition, prizes of $5 were given to 20 other persons.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, well known health authority and United States senator from New York; Dr. W. W. Skinner, assistant chief of the bureau of chemistry in the United States department of agriculture and A. H. Kirchhofer, formerly president of the National Press club at Washington and now managing editor of the Buffalo Evening News, formed the judging committee.

Points cited generally in the essays submitted were that bottled carbonated beverages are pure, wholesome and delicious, have a distinct dietetic value, quench thirst and restore energy.

Among the 2,000 essays which came in from all parts of the United States and Europe was one from Miss Amy Barr, of Circleville.

Exempted From Warfare

The selective service law in vogue during the World war provided exemption to "a member of a well-recognized religious sect or organization, organized and existing on May 18, 1917, whose then existing creed or principles forbid its members to participate in war in any form, and whose religious convictions are against war or participation therein."

Odd Punishment

Around 1800 the law had a "bite" to it in Trumbull county, Ohio, for an old history tells what a self-organized tribunal did to a man convicted of stealing from his fellow boarder. The defendant was sentenced to be "divested of his apparel, tied to a tree, and subjected to the bites of mosquitoes for an hour."

AID SOCIETY HAD MEETING IN COLUMBUS

St. Paul Ladies' Aid Had a Very Good Session With Mrs. Eliza Valentine.

Fifteen members of the St. Paul's Ladies' Aid society, of Washington township, motored to Columbus on Thursday, July 28, to hold their regular July meeting with Mrs. Eliza Valentine, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Lewis A. Myers, 139 Stauring street.

Mrs. Valentine, who is sixty-nine years of age, and one of the oldest members of the society, was a charter member when it was organized, about twenty years ago. She has always been a very faithful and a very active member and her presence at the meetings has been greatly missed since she moved to Columbus several years ago.

At the noon hour members of the Aid and friends enjoyed a basket dinner.

Mrs. D. A. Bowman, acting president, was in charge of the regular monthly business session which was held in the afternoon.

After the business meeting, the following program committee was given: Hymn—"We'll Work Till Jesus Comes" and Psalms of Victory Sung by a Ladies' Quintet Mrs. S. L. Warner, Mrs. W. H. Stout, Mrs. S. A. Bowman, Miss Salie Leist, Mrs. Ollie Stout (The older hymns were chosen especially for Mrs. Valentine's enjoyment).

INVENTS DEVICE TO LAND PLANES ON SKYSCRAPERS

Greater Safety in Flying Is Expected as the Result of Jenkins' Invention.

Washington.—A propeller-reversing device which, it is announced, will permit an airplane to be brought to a stop within twice its own length after it touches the ground, has been evolved by C. Francis Jenkins of Washington.

Announcing his new invention, for which a patent has been issued, Mr. Jenkins said that it would now be possible to establish air fields directly in cities and on the roofs of large buildings and eliminate the "slow and costly hauling of mail, express, and passengers from suburban fields to their real destination.

"The reversing lever is so geared," he explained, "that it cannot be moved while the plane is in the air, thereby eliminating the danger that the pilot might accidentally pull the lever. When the airplane strikes the ground, a spring automatically releases the safety guard on the reversing control and the aviator is free to bring his plane to rest on ground, deck, or sea, almost as instantaneously as a bird ceases flight."

Other benefits of the new device were outlined thus:

"The general use of airplanes for suburb to city passenger service is brought nearer.

"It is now possible to bring a seaplane to rest in the lee of a battleship, saving both plane and pilot under storm conditions.

"Planes can approach landing fields at a greater rate of speed than before has been possible.

Painted Red Cross Building

When the Red Cross building at Charleston, W. Va., was discovered to be badly in need of a coat of paint and the Red Cross treasury was without funds for the work, members of John Brawley post of the American Legion bought paint, donned overalls and completed the job in one afternoon.

Bellingham, Wash.—A grinding iceberg, 300 feet wide and 2,000 feet long, ended a seven-mile trip in which it destroyed everything in its path, when it was broken up in the Nooksack River, 35 miles from here.

The great mass of ice was broken from Denling glacier on Mount Baker a few days ago.

Trees, railroads and bridges were either swept aside or ground to bits. The ground over which the glacier passed is bare of even remnants of anything which stood there before, according to A. S. Athern, state forest ranger.

The beds of Glacier creek and the middle fork of Nooksack river were torn wide for a depth of more than 30 feet and a width of 100 feet.

Damage to tracks and bridges of the Tacoma and St. Paul Logging company was estimated at $50,000.

Pieces of the great iceberg as large as houses still were melting along the pathway where they were broken off.

Woman's Valuable Idea

The idea of using cotton fiber for thread was conceived by Mrs. Samuel Slater of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, in 1794, according to Liberty. Previously the only thread used was hand-twisted linen, sold in hanks, just as knitting yarn is sold today.

BROWN COUNTY JUDGE DIED AT WORTHINGTON

James W. Tarbell Passed Away at Home of Brother -- Funeral at Georgetown.

Judge James William Tarbell, 61, of Georgetown, common pleas judge of Brown county since 1912 and known thruout Ohio legal circles, died Sunday morning of heart trouble at the home of his brother, Dr. Robert C. Tarbell, near Worthington.

Judge Tarbell had been in ill health for more than two years but seemed much improved upon his return several months ago from Florida. A heavy court docket caused him to overestimate his strength and he was stricken about a month ago. He had been at his brother's home for the last two weeks.

The son of David S. Tarbill and Nancy Sallee Tarbell, pioneer families in southern Ohio, Judge Tarbell early followed in the career of his father, who spent more than 20 years in public life and served two terms on the common pleas bench.

Besides his brother, Dr. Tarbell, the judge is survived by his widow, Edith Cahall Tarbell; his son, David Perry, 15; one sister, Mrs. Julia T. Buchanan, 259 South Eighteenth street, Columbus, and another brother, David S. Tarbell, retired newspaper man, of Norwood.

Funeral services in Georgetown, his home and birthplace, at 2 o'clock Wednesday.

AMUSEMENTS

A picture described as the world's funniest comedy comes to the Met theater today. It is "Rookies" with Karl Dane and George K. Arthur featured as a new comedy team with Marceline Day in the leading feminine role. Sam Wood directed this new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer success from a story and continuity by Byron Morgan.

"Rookies" tells an exceedingly amusing tale of life in a citizens' military training camp. Dane has the role of a hard-boiled top-sergeant whose rival for the hand of Marceline Day is a scrubby young private played in inimitable fashion by George K. Arthur. The warfare between these two is carried on thru scenes of alternate laughter and terror, as many episodes take place in a runaway balloon above the clouds.

Cooperation from the United States government in staging this production has made possible an authentic and graphic background of military life in the training camps.

KEEPING QUALITIES

Makes Bacon and Ham Summer Favorites.

During the summer months, keeping foods in good condition is an important consideration. Perhaps refrigeration facilities are inadequate; perhaps the supplies for a camping trip are under discussion; at any rate the problem is to provide foods which will not spoil readily. Because of their excellent keeping qualities ham and bacon come at the head of the list. Besides, these meats blend well with other foods; in fact, they often enhance the flavor of dishes which might otherwise be flat and tasteless.

A cool, dry place is best for keeping these meats, either before or after cooking. If part of a ham is cut off and used, brush the exposed surface of the remainder with a little vinegar. Pickled vinegar, if on hand, is still better, as it adds desirable flavor.

If ham or bacon is to be carried some distance to a camp, it should be well wrapped in heavy oil paper, with an outer covering of cloth.

"Betty" Dress, Designed for the Little Misses

The hollyhock pockets on the dress are the irresistible feature of "Betty," a new Woman's Home Companion dress for little girls. They are applied in deep rose on pale pink or in deep blue on pale blue and each flower is designed to hold a tiny kerchief. Neck and sleeves are bound in the deeper color in each case.

Women's Fancy Hosiery Profits the Gas Man

Women's fads and fancies often are the basis of success of large businesses. The prevalent fancy for light-colored stockings, fancy scarfs and fabric gloves are responsible for a great increase in the use of hot water and of gas, according to a survey made by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Sudden and large increases in the use of gas in many cities and towns caused gas company officials to become curious as to the cause of the water heaters working overtime and occasioned the house-to-house survey.

According to the survey stockings of light hue are changed several times a day, sometimes oftener if the weather is stormy. Washable gloves are changed at least once a day and twice if there is an evening engagement. Both stockings and gloves are invariably washed at home in hot water. Thus, the fancy is good for the gas company.

Scarfs and bobbed hair are responsible for a further increase in the use of hot water and of gas, not to mention various articles of female apparel, the survey states.

Feather Flowers Well Liked by Paris Women

Of accessories that are smart in Paris just now, it is perhaps worth noting that boutonnières continue much in the limelight, and that Parisiennes take kindly to feather flowers, which, it is reported over here, are not so well liked. All of the shops appear to show them in profusion, and one sees a number worn, particularly carnations, although they now come in every conceivable sort of flower, even tiny field blossoms.

The shops are also said to be selling a considerable number of the really pink suede gloves that Alexandrine brought out some time ago. One does not, however, see many of them worn, women continuing to prefer a more beige cast to match their stockings. Illustrative of how much attention is paid to the matter of making one's stockings harmonize with the rest of one's costumes, Mme. Yteb was seen recently at the Ritz in a black satin dress that had a loose scarf panel faced in a deep burnt beige, almost brown, to match her stockings.

May Show Elbows and Still Be in Fashion

During the past few seasons it seemed that a woman could show as much of her leg as she pleased but woe be unto the female who showed an arm above the wristwatch! Arms were considered decidedly vulgar for street purposes even during the warmest summer weather.

Now, however, one may display a dimpled elbow if one wishes. The censors have turned thumbs up when it comes to sleeves this year. Many of the better class sports frocks are sleeveless. But, even now, one must sneak up on the sleeveless vogue for though the frock is sleeveless the accompanying jacket is certain to be long-sleeved.

Trousers Skirts Likely to Receive Approval

Wise heads which thought that the outburst of trousers skirts earlier in the season was only a form of spring madness now foresee a serious movement towards divided skirts. As long as women wear their skirts on a level with their knees the problem of how to preserve a modest appearance when seated in a low, easy chair must be dealt with.

Dressmakers continue to herald trousers as the solution. The midsummer collections, as well as the advance autumn styles retain the divided and knickerbocker skirt ideas. Many skirts which are not divided have matching knickers beneath them.

Why Mince Words?

This is the open season when automobile manufacturers go gunning for buyers. Read the extravagant claims .. the boasts .. the adjectives and superlatives. You are entitled to the facts. Every high priced, largest-type car has lost sales this year. Although several of the smaller, low-priced cars show gains, the industry as a whole shows a loss as this is written. Yet in contrast Auburn in the first 5½ months of this year built as many cars as all of last year. And in 1926 Auburn doubled its production over 1925. New type merchandise, of greater value for less money did it. Cars that perform better, ride and drive easier and endure longer did it. The Straight Eight type of car is the undisputed leader today. No Straight Eight is more successful than Auburn. Facts prove it, in the hands of owners as well as in official contests conducted by the American Automobile Association. The reasons for Auburn's extraordinary success are all built into the car itself. We claim it is the greatest value on the market..... bar none..... and will let the car itself prove it with you at the wheel.

Won't Attempt South Pole Flight Until 1928, Flyer Says.

New York, Aug. 5.—(UP).—The south pole expedition which will be headed by Commander Richard E. Byrd, trans-Atlantic aviator, has been postponed until 1928.

Commander Byrd and his backers decided against hasty preparation and the start, originally scheduled for this fall, thus has been set back. The flyer intends to take 30 men with him.

Bernt Balchen, member of the crew of the monoplane America in the flight to France, will leave on Monday for Norway to obtain the services of men skilled in every phase of arctic ice and snow work.

LEGAL NOTICE

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF OHIO. No. 5518.

In the Matter of
Floyd Shaw, Bankrupt.

IN BANKRUPTCY.
To the Honorable Benson W. Hough, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio.

Floyd Shaw, of Circleville, in the County of Pickaway and State of Ohio, in said District, respectfully represents:

That on the 15th day of December last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the Acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said Acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore He Prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said Bankrupt Acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 25th day of April, A. D. 1927.

FLOYD SHAW,
Bankrupt.
Southern District of Ohio, County of Pickaway, ss.

Floyd Shaw being duly sworn deposes and says, that he is the petitioner named in the foregoing petition, that he has read the same and knows the contents thereof; that the same is true to the knowledge of deponent, except as to those matters therein stated to be alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters he believes it to be true.

FLOYD SHAW.
Sworn to before me this 25th day of April, 1927.

M. C. SEYFERT,
Notary Public.
District of Ohio,
County of Pickaway, ss.

I, Floyd Shaw, being duly sworn, depose and say that I have not been discharged as a bankrupt, in voluntary proceedings, within six years of the date hereof.

FLOYD SHAW.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 25th day of April, 1927.

M. C. SEYFERT,
Notary Public.

Southern District of Ohio, ss:

On this 3d day of June, A. D., 1927 on reading the foregoing petition, it is Ordered by the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 14th day of October, A. D., 1927, before said court, at Columbus in said District, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Union-Herald a newspaper printed in said District, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the same time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is Further Ordered by the Court, that the Clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness the Honorable
B. W. HOUGH,
Judge of said Court and the seal thereof, at Columbus, in said District on the 3d day of June, A. D., 1927.

HARRY F. RABE,
Clerk.

THE HOME OF W. A. ANDERSON

In Pickaway Township Has Been Entered Twice Within the Past Two Weeks.

The home of W. A. Anderson on the Harry Montelius farm in Pickaway township, has been the scene of two daring robberies within the past week. Clothing and some jewelry have been taken and it is thought the thieves are members of a gang of workers in an Norfolk & Western camp near this farm.

The first time the thieves entered the house was Thursday evening, one week ago, between 7 and 8 o'clock when Mrs. Anderson and her children with Wenrich Arledge, who is employed by Mr. Anderson, had gone into town for some supplies and as Mr. Anderson came into the house from the barn after watering the stock he heard some one but thought it was Mr. Arledge whom he did not know had accompanied the family. He also heard the man come down the stairs and go out the back door and the theft was not discovered until the return of the family when the Arledge boy found his clothing gone. Mr. Anderson then discovered that all his personal belongings had been taken. The Arledge boy also lost a class ring to the thieves upon this visit.

On Thursday evening of this week, Mr. Montelius was returning to his home from the Anderson's at about 6 o'clock in the evening when he noticed two colored men attempting to place a ladder against his house to the window of the upper story. When he called to them they fled. Sheriff Davis and his deputies and a number of the neighbors then formed a posse and endeavored to find the thieves but they eluded them, escaping through a cornfield.

Between 1 and 2 o'clock Friday morning Mr. Arledge was awakened by some one trying to enter his room and when he called to him thinking it was Mr. Anderson, the man fled. He then aroused the family and Mr. Anderson found the dresser drawers in his own room had been ransacked and his watch and some change pilfered from his pocket at the side of his bed. The thieves had made preparations for this raid as the distributor wires in the Anderson machine had been cut as well as the telephone wires.

A search of the basement brought to light the fact that one of the thieves had changed clothing there as an old pair of shoes and a shirt were found. It is thought that entrance was gained through the coal chute into the basement.

While endeavoring to track the thieves yesterday morning, Mr. Anderson found that they traveled a rather circuitous course through the cornfield. By going straight through for about 8 rows they would back-track almost the same number and then take another course, this had been done a number of times until they reached the pasture field where all tracks were lost.

The family of Mr. Anderson are all suffering from the nervous shock sustained from these nocturnal visits.

Home Furnished Payne Inspiration for Song

The old farmhouse at Easthampton, Long Island, which was the inspiration of the famous song, "Home, Sweet Home," is to be sold, and its fate remains uncertain. John Howard Payne, the author of the song, spent his boyhood years in the staunch old structure, which is said to have been built 267 years ago by a Robert Dayton. When in later life, Payne became an actor and author, memories of his life on the farm inspired the well-known words of the famous song first sung in his long-forgotten opera, "The Maid of Milan." The weather-beaten old house nestles under huge shade trees, and presents a pretty picture, but its chief value is sentimental. The community in which it stands was founded by English settlers, who called their village Maidstone, after the English town from which they came.

Nature's Regulation

Although there are from twenty to sixty more male babies than female babies in every 1,000 babies born, there are more women than men in the civilized countries of the world, according to an answered question in Liberty. This is because more male babies die in infancy, and men are more liable than women to death by accident.

LONG RANGE AIR COMPETITION

Inquiries received by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reveal a growing interest in many cities, stimulated, no doubt, by Col. Lindbergh's flight, in the possibilities of air transport. Commercial organizations are beginning to ask themselves what the future will bring forth and what steps may be taken to reap the harvest of this development, recognizing that port and terminal facilities often-times determines the course transportation takes.

In response to these inquiries the Transportation Department of the National Chamber suggests that it is the part of wisdom to acquire sites for airports, by lease or option, if not by purchase, in order that the necessary ports may be established when they are needed.

"The selection of an airport site," it recommends, "should be definitely linked with city planning. Nearness to the business center and accessibility to the public are of prime importance, and due account should be taken of local transportation and communication facilities. Ground communication by rail, motor or launch should be as rapid as possible in order that the benefit of air speed may not be lost."

"Zoning as well as city's planning should be considered. The area adjacent to a landing field will probably have a commercial or industrial development and the height of buildings surrounding the field will be a factor in its usefulness."

Drove Hard Bargain

A man tells this story of his college days:

He was accosted on the street one day by a stranger who offered to sell at a bargain a ring which he said he had found in the washroom of a hotel. The ring had a large stone set. The stranger asked $5 for the ring, but after much bickering took 25 cents.

The student put on his new mark of opulence and went down to the college with the expectation of making an impression, but on arriving, he found others had made similar bargains, paying from 10 cents to $4.

NO TEACHERS, SCHOOLS CLOSE

Australia has a shortage of teachers, and many schools have been forced to close. In Victoria more than 300 are needed, and 30 county schools are having enforced vacations. To cope with the situation the department of education is employing 100 married women, mostly former instructors. The teachers' union explains that low salaries, many receiving less than $15 a week, and unreasonable restrictions, have caused many teachers to resign. Officials are considering salary increases.

Doctor Dresses Own Injuries, Saves Baby

New York.—Diphtheria of the larynx threatened to choke the life out of Jane, the baby daughter of Policeman Hugo G. Geissele, Maplewood, N. J.
An immediate operation, known as "intubation," was all that could save her; Dr. D. J. Pola, ten miles away, started to Jane's bedside in an ambulance, with Miss Marion Raitzel, a nurse, and Gustave Schmidt, driver. Another vehicle cut across Schmidt's course. The ambulance swerved and crashed into a steel trolley pole, a complete wreck. Its occupants were severely cut and battered.
The young physician, nevertheless, applied emergency dressing to his companions' injuries and his own, then commandeered an automobile, which rushed him and the nurse to the Geissele home. He and Doctor Demarest successfully operated on the baby.

Mistaken pedagogy that seeks to force the left-handed child to right-handedness is responsible for a tragically large number of cases of stuttering in American schools, according to a survey of the National Protective League for Stammerers, made public in Indianapolis by Benjamin N. Bogue, president, and one of the country's leading authorities on speech.

"Attempted correction of the use of the left hand is the starting point of speech defects in thousands of boys and girls between 6 and 14 years of age," the survey states. "Stuttering and stammering are much more serious than defective articulation and give a darker outlook for improvement or cure, in that with the confirmed stutterer institutional care is a primary essential.

"Too strong emphasis can not be placed on the peril of attempting to develop by undue stress a right-handed boy or girl from a left-handed one, for, while the essential cause of left-handedness remains in some doubt, there is good reason to believe it is a deep-seated anatomic one. Such a cause obviously can not yield to training.

"If the child is left-handed, it is often possible to accomplish good results by making him fairly ambidexterous by teaching him that it is good fun to do with both hands what most people can do only with one. Since children are strict conformists and dislike doing anything that marks them as being different, they often respond quickly to this idea."

Police Take Kick Out of Limehouse Nights

London.—American tourists who come to London with an idea of finding adventure in "wild and woolly" Limehouse are doomed to disappointment.

That picturesque section of the London dock district is no longer the place Hollywood motion pictures portray. The Shanghai cafe, one of the last business establishments to sell Limehouse "atmosphere" to tourists, has pulled up its front door on Limehouse causeway and moved to Soho where it can depend on a regular clientele for its chop suey.

Americans report to their tourist agencies that they are disgusted with the quiet evenings they have wasted in Limehouse looking for excitement. Cester boys with dirty necks and muffers instead of collars and ties are the most picturesque things they see, and an evening spent in the neighborhood is as quiet as a Sunday school festival.

Those who hanker for "the good old days" when crimes were frequent should blame it on Inspector Hall, who has just retired from the criminal investigation department of Scotland Yard.

He is known as the man who cleaned up Limehouse. Ten years ago Inspector Hall took charge of the dock district. At that time Limehouse was infested with criminals of every nationality, and every street had its opium dens and white slave dives.

ALL OHIO BAND THREE HUNDRED YOUNG PLAYERS

Will Furnish Music at State Fair—Chance to Enter the Big Blow is Yet Open.

The All-Ohio State Fair band will again be back at the Ohio State fair, August 29 to September 3, under the direction of J. W. Wainwright, of Fostoria. This announcement was made by Director of Agriculture C. V. Truax.

Different sections of the band are at present practicing at a summer camp at Oliver Lake, LaGrange, Indiana, where they are under the instructions of Wainwright, Guy V. Sutphen, of Toledo, and Superintendent Clark, of the Kenton public schools. Sutphen is assistant music director of the camp and Clark is the director.

Four days before the opening of the fair, the entire group of three hundred boys will be assembled at the fair grounds, where they will spend their time organizing for the activities of the week. They will practice as one large unit and will also be divided into several smaller organizations. Each of these will be under the leadership of one of the assistant directors and will play at different places in the grounds. These boys will form a town of their own at the fair grounds, with a complete organization. They will be housed in tents and cooks provided to prepare their meals.

The fair this fall marks the fourth year that patrons have been privileged to hear an All-Ohio band. In 1924, a high school band contest was conducted over the entire state by the Ohio State fair management. Six organizations judged to be the best in Ohio were taken to Columbus at the expense of the State fair, and encamped on the grounds during the entire week. They played each day and were judged in their six-day performance.

For the past three years, Wainwright has visited Ohio high schools and selected individuals for the All-Ohio band, judging them on their individual merit. The same procedure is being followed this year, only the musicians of unusual ability being selected.

All those who still desire to enter the band may apply to J. W. Wainwright, box 75, Fostoria, Ohio.

FISH FRY AND HOMECOMING.

The Methodist Brotherhood of Mt. Pleasant church will have a fish fry and homecoming at the church, near Kinderhook on Monday, September 5, all day.

He who wrote "Beauty comes we scarce know how" might have been greatly helped had he known that we spent one hundred forty million dollars last year.

FOLKSBURG ITEMS

Among other things we've been needing rain in Folksburg lately, and looks like we're going to get it soon. Right now a big black cloud is heaving up over the hill toward Blue River. The edges are tumbling over and over, and there's a lot of mumbly thunder that's getting louder all the time. It's coming fast. The neighbors are beginning to call the children and running to shut the windows and bring in the cushions off of the porch swings.

Joe Dodds, who has been making a prolonged effort to sell his automobile, drove up to the city last Saturday thinking maybe he could dispose of it. And he could have sold it to a firm up there, but they didn't offer him quite enough to pay his railroad fare back, so he kept it to come home in.

It's been noticed around town how Sam Solomon's boy, Bennie, wears his coat nearly all the time no matter how hot it is. And when somebody asked him why that was, Sam said the coat is going to be too small by another year, and he wants Bennie to get all the wear out of it he can.

Ben Hobson, who has been putting off painting his garage ever since he built it, jumped at a chance last week to let some sign painters from the city paint a big sign all over the east side of it.

Jason Crabb was called on the phone yesterday and asked would he move some rubbish he had piled in the alley by his house, and which had nearly blocked up the road. Jason said tolerably abruptly that he wouldn't, but when he was informed that it was Marshal Bailey speaking, he reconsidered quick and said he would.

Uncle Bill Bobbitt got a letter the other day from somebody off from here that wanted to sell him stock in an oil well and they said being it was him they wanted to let him in on the ground floor. And Uncle Bill said, he appreciated their thoughtfulness, but he imagined if he was to buy much stock like that he soon would have the ground for a floor.

The town pump at the postoffice corner was out of order one of the hottest days last week, and several thought Leander Martin, who runs an ice cream stand nearby, had something to do with it. We don't know about that, but he did do a big business in pop while the water supply was off.

Grover Morgan and his wife took a portion of their relatives out for an automobile ride Saturday afternoon, and Mrs. Morgan was put in considerable suspense until they got back home. Some of the folks kept pointing out things to look at and Mrs. Morgan was afraid it would divert Grover's mind, which she knew he didn't have any to spare for his driving.

While Andrew Allen was waiting in the barber shop yesterday he started advising how people oughtn't ever let themselves get upset over little things, and he said he had himself under control so he could always stay calm. And while he was talking somebody took his turn in the barber chair by mistake, and as soon as Andrew noticed it, he rushed out tolerably huffy saying something about he'd shave himself from then on.

Alec Powers was speaking recently how some people can't take an interest in anything unless there's something in it for them. And he said they're losing a lot by being that way, for if they only knew it, nobody takes much interest in them. Zeno Rogers, who has been trying all kinds of remedies to reduce his weight, gained three more pounds last week.

That rain which we spoke of is here and we're being called to know have we attended to our regular duty of putting all the pans under the leaks. Which we haven't, so it looks like we'll have to stop at this point.

Caters to Motorists; Pastor Fills Church

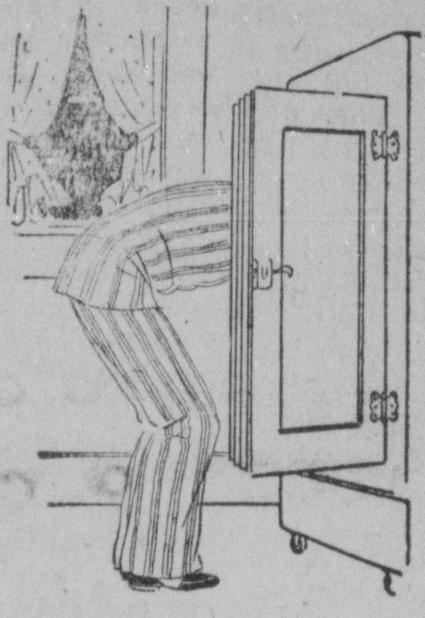

London.—"Sunday motorists who wish to call in at my church can park their cars in the drive and use my garden," announced Rev. W. H. Ridgway, vicar of Tarvin, recently.

As a result of the invitation, which includes the right for motorists who accept to have their lunch in the vicar's garden after attending services at the church, every Sunday there is a long row of motor cars in the rectory drive; and the vicar preaches to a crowded church.

Vicar Ridgway's idea also encourages motorists from the city to visit the ancient churches in the neighborhood through which they pass and, with this object in view, the vicar is planning to form a sort of motoring guild of which regular members will be a nucleus of sporting churchgoers.

Those on the inside say congress wants relief from the farmers quite as badly as the farmers want relief from congress.

Sudden Death of the Distinguished American Follows Operation At Hospital In Boston, Mass.—Brilliant Career As Soldier Is Begun With Medical Service In Indian War—Highest Command Is Won—Will Be Given Military Funeral Honors Tuesday, With Rest At Arlington Amidst "Rough Rider" Comrades.

Military and official Washington prepared Sunday to pay a "last salute" to one of the nation's outstanding soldiers, Major General Leonard Wood, who died in the early morning hours at Boston.

With colors at half mast the army that he served for more than two-score years sorrowfully made arrangements for his burial Tuesday in Arlington National cemetery, Washington, alongside of his comrades of the Spanish-American war.

General Wood's body leaves Boston, accompanied by a military guard of six soldiers from Fort Banks under Captain Roger Williams. Present plans call for Mrs. Wood to accompany the body.

The body will arrive in Washington early Tuesday morning and, under present plans of the war department, will be taken immediately to the cemetery.

Along Pennsylvania avenue and the winding road to Arlington across the Potomac river the military escort from Boston will be supplemented by the 3d Cavalry, the 16th field artillery, a battalion of infantry and a detachment of engineers.

The burial in Arlington will be at the request of Mrs. Wood who asked that the body be placed in a little plot reserved for members of the "Rough Riders" regiment, which he commanded during the war with Spain.

Speaking in behalf of the war department, Assistant Secretary MacNider in a message to Mrs. Wood, said that "every citizen who has our good at heart mourns with you."

"The army of the United States stands at last salute to a great soldier, a great administrator and a great American."

The secretary also issued a statement reviewing the many tasks the general had undertaken for the nation, declaring that besides being "an able military leader," he was a citizen of great prominence whose field of activity extended much beyond the army with which he was customarily identified.

Thru the long struggle General Wood had the full support of President Harding, who appointed him Secretary Weeks and President Coolidge. The administration at home declined to interfere with his work, holding that he was competent and capable and several of his acts which created furores in Manila were publicly approved.

The governor general also had the sympathy of the Moro chieftains and the Democratic party and finally was given unqualified indorsement by General Emilio Aguinaldo, the retired rebel chieftain, who declared General Wood had the interest of the Philippines at heart.

Carmi Thompson, who went to the Philippines in 1926 as the personal envoy of President Coolidge, declared in his report that "on the whole General Wood to be commended for his efficient conduct of affairs during his administration."

Thompson, however, urged the breaking of the deadlock in Philippine rule resulting from the split between General Wood and the legislature and the removal of the "military atmosphere" in the insular executive branch of the government.

General Wood in a published article subsequently defended the appointment of army officers in his cabinet, declaring that the idea that regular officers were temperamentally unfit for civilian duty in peace time was erroneous.

Before becoming chief executive of the islands, General Wood investigated conditions there for President Harding and reported against the granting of independence. This report, made public after he became governor general, added fuel to the controversy that marked his administration.

Appointed an assistant surgeon several years prior to the Spanish-American war, Wood rose to the fore most rank of American generals, his active duty culminating in the governor generalship of the Philippine Islands after he had served four years as chief of the general staff of the army, the topmost military command.

While his rapid promotion, ascribed largely to his close friendship with Theodore Roosevelt, was the subject of frequent criticism in military circles, General Wood's service was recognized thruout the establishment as the highest type.

KNOCKED DOWN BY TRUCK.
A. F. Mowery, formerly of this city a brother of Mrs. Noah Weaver and Mrs. Bessie Long, of this city, was knocked down by a truck in Columbus Saturday afternoon, says the Columbus Dispatch. It is not known what the extent of his injuries are, but it is thought they are not serious.

INDICTED

The federal grand jury in Boston has handed down two indictments against John H. Diehl, above, who was in command of the City of Rome when it rammed and sank the submarine S-51, causing a loss of 27 lives. The indictments charge inattention and negligence, and failure to stand by after the crash.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Wellsville—West Virginia state police were to start investigation today into the death of Dorothy Mercer, 6, whose body weighted down with rocks was found last night in a creek near her home at Congo, West Virginia.

Cleveland—Five dead and 15 injured was the weekend auto toll in Cuyahoga county, according to police figures today. Three persons were killed when their auto overturned near Steubenville. Two lost their lives at Newark when a B. & O. train struck an auto. Other fatal accidents were reported from Zanesville, Findlay, Springfield and Toledo.

Gallipolis—A survey of Gallia county farmers reveals that the bean crop has been badly damaged by beetles. Farmers estimate the damage at $5,000.

Cleveland—Allan Noel, 25, of Elyria, was held in county jail Monday in connection with the stabbing Sunday of Thomas Brown, 26, in a construction camp at Berea. Noel told county detectives Brown had been nagging him for several days and Sunday during a quarrel he picked up a butcher knife and stabbed him.

Columbus—Estate of the late Matilda Field, widow of the late Al G. Field, showman, goes to Fritz Fuierst of Munich, Germany, according to her will probated here. Fuierst will inherit $60,000.

Toledo—Three Toledoans were drowned, two other persons lost their lives in auto crashes and a score more were hurt in traffic crashes over the weekend.

Cleveland—P. K. Peterson today planned to go into the business of raising foxes to make up for the loss he sustained when his chicken farm was raided. After losing more than 100 chickens Peterson waited for the thief only to learn that a male and female fox and their young were responsible. He finally managed to capture one fox and now plans to trap another and raise foxes as a business.

No matter how badly the man turns out, the wife has the satisfaction of reflecting that she kept some other woman from getting him.

Sunday When Auto Was Sideswiped on Walnut Creek Pike.

In an accident on the Walnut Creek pike Sunday evening about seven o'clock Frank Hillburner and Walter Hunt, of Columbus, were severely injured when their car was sideswiped by a passing machine and they were forced off the road. Their car, a Ford, ran into a ditch and struck a tree, demolishing the machine. Dr. G. W. Heffner was called and rendered temporary surgical aid. Mr. Hunt's shoulder was dislocated and Mr. Hillburner sustained cuts about the face and neck.

The identity of the automobile that sideswiped them is unknown. The injured men were taken to their homes in Columbus.

At Home in This City, Funeral Was Held Monday at Two O'clock.

Mrs. America Berg, of East Franklin street, died at her home Saturday evening following a three months' illness. Her death was due to senility. She was a member of the United Brethren church. The deceased was born in this city and was about 85 years of age. She was a daughter of Reuben and Lucinda Moore.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at her late home at 2 o'clock. Rev. E. A. Tovey officiated. Interment in Forest cemetery.

FAMILY REUNION.
The fifth annual reunion of the Bolender family will be held Sunday, August 14, at the home of Mr. Noah Bolender in Washington township.

The trouble with the state of matrimony is that it too often attempts to endure half slave and half free.

TROLLEY HITS AUTOS; TWO SUFFER INJURIES.

James Ray, 21, and Don Jones, 20, both of Oran, Maine, and Orville Winger, 21, Arbordale, Illinois, escaped serious injuries early Sunday when two automobiles in which they were riding on the National highway near Rome, west of Columbus, were struck by an Ohio electric traction car. Ray and Jones were in the first car that was struck and Winger was following directly behind them.

The men were taken to Mt. Carmel hospital, where they were treated for bruises and lacerations. Their conditions are not serious.

"TOMMY" RETIRES

The retirement, after 30 years' service, of Col. Selah R. H. Tompkins of the Seventh cavalry marks the passing of one of the most colorful characters of the old army days during the winning of the West. Colonel Tompkins was affectionately known throughout the army as "Tommy" Tompkins and was famous for his flowing red mustache.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Brown and daughters, Pauline and Aileen, of Stoutsville, and Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. G. W. Fellers, of Detroit Michigan, Sunday attended the reunion of Pike countians at Smith's park, Columbus.

REUNION OF PLEASANT GROVE SCHOOL AUGUST 21.

The annual reunion of former pupils and teachers of Pleasant Grove school in Deercreek township will be held on the school grounds, Sunday, August 21.

A picnic dinner will be served at the noon hour, and all former pupils and teachers are cordially invited to come, and with well filled baskets.

Skull Fractured and Foot Cut Off by N. & W. Train Sunday Afternoon.

G. W. Goins was fatally injured when he was struck by a southbound Norfolk & Western freight train Sunday evening about 7 o'clock. His skull was fractured, several ribs were broken and his left foot was cut off.

Some boys who found the injured man attempted to make a tourniquet out of wire and wrapped it around the injured man's leg to stop the flow of blood. They then called Albaugh's ambulance and he was removed to the Home and Hospital, where he expired about 10:30 o'clock.

Some difficulty was had in getting a physician to give the injured man medical attention but Dr. B. R. Bales was finally reached.

Undertaker Fred C. Clark notified the police authorities of Columbus, and all they could learn was that a couple by the name of Goins, lived in the rear of 1245 East Twelfth avenue, but no one was at that address.

The man is about 54 years of age. Apparently he was working his way south.

The following notations were found in a note book on the dead man's body: "July 13, 1927, My Name is Geo. Goins. I reside at 1245 Twelfth ave., Columbus; wife's name is Lillian. You will find her on Tuesday's at 181 15th ave., at the home of Mrs. W. M. Mills."

"August 1, 1927, not a mouthful of food in the house or a penny of money; "August 7, Chillicothe, fell off a northbound train and was bruised."

This last date was Sunday and it seems a brakeman ordered him off his train just north of the freight house and the man set down on the frog. The pilot on the engine of a southbound train hit him. He evidently was despondent and wanted to get out of the world.

Wandering Alligator

Finding an alligator in a rosebush in her garden, a Kansas City woman had what she described as the thrill of her life. The woman was clearing shrubbery from the rosebush when "something" snapped at her hand. She called neighbors. A crowd congregated. Some one obtained a rake and a "baby" alligator was taken from under the bush. The alligator was put in a box and turned over to the police department.

Those wounds heal ill that men do give themselves.—Trollus and Cressida, Act 3, Scene 3.

Jack rabbits cause damage to crops and crops that amount to several million dollars annually in some states. Control by means of the bounty system has not been very successful, although the expense has been great. In some counties in Kansas for example, bounties on jack rabbits totaled from $1,000 to $8,000 in 1926. Hunting the rabbits for meat and skins has its limitations. In many situations poisoning is the only practicable method of control, and now that the skins have a fair commercial value the poison method need no longer be considered wasteful.

Wheat Hurt Most

The most noticeable damage to jack rabbits is that done to wheat since the rabbits often graze the winter wheat down to the roots, even pawing the earth away and biting at the crowns of the plants, as well as cutting the stalks after stem ripening begins. They are also constant feeders on growing alfalfa, although their grazing is seldom localized enough to be apparent. Such special crops as sugar beets, soy beans, melon patches, and others are also attacked, and the losses are easily seen. Five to eight jack rabbits are said to eat as much as one sheep, or an equivalent in the cattle and horses that might have been supported by the forage destroyed.

Since the jack rabbit is regarded as a game animal, it is not desirable to exterminate it completely, as is the case of the prairie dog, but adequate control is important. The rabbits themselves can be made to pay part of the cost of control, if used as a meat supplement in feeding poultry and hogs, says the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. Each fall and early in winter the eastern markets absorb several carloads of rabbits for meat purposes. Recently there has arisen an active demand for jack-rabbit skins for use in manufacturing felt. At 45 to 60 cents per pound for dry skins, the return is 10 to 13 cents per skin. Carcasses for hog feed bring two or three cents each. The combined value of skin and carcass is a better return than bounties of five cents per rabbit, and if utilized as a new source of income will keep the rabbits reasonably in check.

Cows Require Grain Even When Pastures Are Good

Pastures and other conditions are ideal for dairy cows during May and June, but even then it pays to feed some grain to the heavy-producing cows, according to C. S. Rhode, dairy extension specialist of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois. It will keep them from losing flesh as fast as they otherwise would and will leave a lasting effect throughout the next lactation period. The grain ration that is fed may consist of two parts ground corn or barley and one part ground oats. A little cottonseed meal will tend to overcome the laxative condition which occurs when cows are first turned on succulent pasture.

Cows that are producing more than a pound of butter a day should get a pound of this grain mixture for every four pounds of milk produced daily. Cows that are producing less than a pound of butter a day will get along nicely on abundant pasture alone. The grass is palatable and succulent and supplies protein, minerals and vitamins.

As the season advances the composition of the common pasture grasses changes and the grain mixture should be changed accordingly. A grain mixture of 300 pounds of corn or barley, 300 pounds of bran, 200 pounds of linseed oil meal and 150 pounds of cottonseed meal may be used during this period. If silage and legume hay are fed in addition to grain the winter grain mixture could be used. Cows should get enough feed in addition to pasture to keep them from getting thin and from falling off in milk flow. The amounts of grain and roughage to feed may be determined by the above conditions.

Agricultural Notes

Many a farm dollar is lost in the scrap heap of uncared-for farm machinery.

True diversification in farming includes also cultivation of the fruits of the spirit.

Wether lambs sell for higher prices on the market than do ram lambs, and lambs which are docked bring more money than those which are not.

Only a little water should be allowed a horse heated from working until it is cooled off. It makes little difference whether a horse is watered before or after eating, the specialists say.

Valuable as it is, pasture alone will never grow desirable market hogs. It pays to feed a ration of farm grains balanced with skin milk, tankage or other protein concentrate in addition to pasture.

Aged Pine Cone

The department of paleontology at the University of California has received a pine cone in perfect condition that is probably two million years old, although it is of a species still existing. The tree which bore the cone was buried in a lava flow and thus preserved. A prospector in Placer county found the cone and sent it to the university.

Maytag dealers everywhere follow the standardized rule of sending a Maytag to a home to do a week's washing free, and without obligation of any kind. This is the way all Maytag Gyrofoam Washers are sold. The Maytag must sell itself solely upon its performance in the home. It must wash everything to your entire satisfaction. Must wash everything quicker, easier and cleaner than other washers. Must wash everything—even collars, cuffs and wristbands without hand-rubbing. Must prove to you, in your own home, that it is the most helpful home-laundering unit you have ever seen or used.

DOMESTIC TROUBLE

Given As Cause of Murder of Peter Merz, of Nelsonville.

Columbus, Aug. 5.—(UP).—Killing of Peter Merz, president of the Lick Run Coal mine near Nelsonville, by James McManaway, his son-in-law, a union sympathizer, was accepted today by Governor Donahey's office and Adj. Gen. Frank B. Henderson, as the culmination of domestic troubles.

Gen. Henderson's report of the death from Major John Edwards of his staff says, "It is commonly accepted here that the killing of Merz grew out of domestic quarrels."

Major Edwards will stay in Athens county permanently, having been assigned to that post as an observer for the adjutant general just before the killing.

CONDITION OF
OUR AFFAIRS

Chairman Fred W. Warner
Speaks of the Ills That Af-
flict Us and Prescribes.

Fred W. Warner, chairman of the Republican state central committee, analyses the conditions which, in his opinion has led to the present unsettled condition of affairs in both the state and nation. He is open in his criticism of those things which he believes demand the application of a severe remedy, and points out with unsparing honesty the needs by which conditions may be remedied.

Mr. Warner makes no plea for the Republican party, but speaks of mat- ters in a general way as applicable to both Republican and Democratic affairs and avoids any implication that he is speaking as the leader of the Republican forces in Ohio.

It is the first statement of this character Mr. Warner has issued, in it he says:

"The present governmental chaos in the state of Ohio and of the national government can be attributed largely to two causes, the lack of party unity and insufficient salaries paid to public servants.

"The press, in the various editorials of the leading newspapers of the country are spending a great amount of space in deploring the present state of affairs, with no mention of the cause that has produced them. They are calling our attention to the terrible state of affairs that has existed, and apparently is now existing in the state of Indiana, where a man is brought from the prison cell to relate the ways and means employed in procuring the election of public servants. Two of our great states are being threatened with having their senators refused seats in the national congress. Employees and chief enforcement officers in our own state are being charged with all kinds of criminal offenses, imputing moral depravity, and no mention is made of the laws and methods creating these conditions.

"Candidates for office will spend days and weeks and use all the influence of their friends to procure endorsement of the K. K. K. Anti-saloon League, Ohio Council of Churches, Manufacturers associations Labor Unions, etc., and make no effort—in fact they seem to feel that the endorsement of a political organization would cause them an injury. If the political leaders, or those whose duty it is to guide the affairs of the political party were to make an endorsement, they would immediately be assailed as "Bosses."

"The newspapers of the country should either make the selection, or permit it to be done by someone else.

"With reference to the compensation paid to public servants; I would like very much to have the citizens generally to compare the salaries of the public officials with the income received by men in positions of similar importance, in private life. The little city of Marion, of some 30,000 inhabitants pays its superintendent of public schools as much money as the great state of Ohio is paying the director of education for the entire state.

"We expect to procure high grade servants on our various commissions by the payment of salaries that in no wise compare to the salaries paid third rate officers in private institutions of comparatively small capitalization. Apparently we are employing public servants as hat girls are employed in the larger hotels—we furnish them with room and rather expect them to receive a compensation by way of tips. Never will we be able to procure clean, courageous, able servants in this way. Our recent way experience should have taught us that some of our 'dollar-a-year-men' was the most expensive service ever received by the state and nation; and, in the words of Will Rogers, 'Let's pay them what they are really worth and save our money.'

George U. Marvip.

Salute of Joy

Feu de Joie, a French expression meaning literally fire of joy, is a running discharge of firearms as a mark of rejoicing. A discharge of seven guns is thrice followed by a sequence of rifle shots proceeding from end to end of the ranks.

Theory vs. Practice

A "sham battle" would be a great relief to the mind if there were any assurance that a real battle would follow the pattern it lays down with any degree of respect.—Washington Star.

DOES

Have Overrun Woods of Pennsylvania—Remedy Sought
In Senate.

So many does are running the wilderness of Pennsylvania that some measure will have to be undertaken to rid the woods of them. A bill introduced in the senate proposes that for 10 days next December the sportsmen protect all bucks and fawns, shooting only does.

Sentimental reasons forbid the killing of does to the Pennsylvania hunters, who, since the buck law was passed some 20 years ago, have come to look up on the mothers of the herds as sacred. In Mifflin County alone, wardens found 27 dead fawns in the woods. More than that number of dead fawns were found in Lycoming County. They came of a weak strain due to mating young and immature bucks with old does. Nature steps in to adjust the balance in the herd where the great excess of females exist. In Cumberland County the females outnumber the bucks 40 to 1.

If a man has a wife who won't settle down, it makes it very difficult for him to settle up.

Honeymoons by AirPopular in England

London.—Many more women use the airplane service between England and the continent than men. There has been a large increase in the number of young honeymooners who travel by air rather than put up with the discomforts of cross-channel steamer travel. Close observers say that the women seem much more at home several thousand feet in the air than the male passenger. Increased facilities for flying now make it possible for the wealthy woman to leave Croydon in the morning, fly to Paris for shopping, and be back in England in time for dinner. Several well-known society women have made several such trips this season.

GET POWER FROM CURRENTS OF STRAITS OF GIBRALTAR

Spanish Economist Sees Vast Possibilities in Harnessing Powerful Stream.

Madrid.—The currents passing from the Atlantic ocean into the Mediterranean sea, and vice versa, produce an enormous power that could be used and transformed into electricity, according to Don Emilio Zurano Munzo, prominent Spanish economist, who has completed a preliminary study of the question, and submitted it to King Alfonso XIII.

Zurano calculated that one current going through the Strait of Gibraltar, coming from the Atlantic ocean and carrying a yearly volume of 26,000 cubic kilometers of water, at an average speed of ten kilometers per hour, and the other current crossing underneath from the Mediterranean into the ocean, with a yearly volume of 3,000 cubic kilometers saturated with salt, can be turned into a formidable continual electric power of over 30 milliards of horse power.

In the document addressed to the king, Zurano said the maximum power lies in the bay west of Algeria, but that power is also available in other points on both sides of the strait.

Explaining the course of energy there, Zurano pointed out that to get an appropriate idea of the water flowing every year into the Mediterranean sea, one must imagine a huge cube of water three times and one-third higher than Mount Everest running at 800,000 cubic meters of water per second. Adding the subcurrent which furnishes 95,000 cubic meters of water per second, the constant electrical power obtainable reaches 36,690,000,000 horse power.

Kiss in the Dark GetsFreedom for Prisoner

Paris.—A kiss in the dark got a Frenchman out of prison the other day.

The prisoner, Fritz Gabriel, had been behind the bars for two years and had several more to serve. His wife came to see him. At the leavetaking in the dark corridor Gabriel and his wife embraced with especial warmth, the parting kiss being so movie-like in length that the guards noticed it and were moved.

Gabriel had a slip of paper in his cheek. It passed his wife's lips during the embrace. On the paper was written:

"Tomorrow, during the recreation hour, I will jump over the wall. Have a vehicle waiting for me on the other side of the moat."

Mrs. Gabriel had the vehicle. Her husband got away and hasn't been heard of since.

Odd Styles FeatureWeddings in Africa

Boma, Belgian Congo.—Natives of the remote Kasai region of Africa have taken a liking to the fashions of civilization.

"The first converted native couples I married," said Father Achille de Munster, a missionary in the district for the last 20 years, "wore nothing but a loin cloth. But you should see them now. Recently I married 15 couples. They all sported white suits and the brides wore shoes and hats and their black faces were literally powdered white.

"Some had on one white shoe and one black. They seemed to think that was the height of chic."

One bridegroom, Father Munster said, fainted from the heat and his costume of two pairs of trousers, two shirts, two vests, two coats and a tight collar.

Cattle Become Wildon Alaskan Island

Kodiak, Alaska.—Three hundred and fifty shorthorn cattle browse over the mountainous surface of tiny Chilikof island, 200 miles out in the northern Pacific ocean from Kodiak.

More than 40 years ago the Alaska Commercial company, a development concern long since extinct, stocked the island with a few head of tame cattle for experimental purposes. On the little isle with a surface of only 20 square miles, the cattle have degenerated from inbreeding and have become thoroughly wild, but the herd continues to thrive. Alaskans say the experiment at least has proved that cattle can be grown in the region.

A CIVIL WAR VETERAN DROPS OUT OF LINE

Alexander M. Clark Answers the Last Roll Call—Was 82 Years of Age.

Alexander M. Clark died at his home, 339 East Union street, Monday morning, August 8, at 10:30 o'clock. The deceased was born in Ireland, May 28, 1845, and was a son of William Thomas Clark and Elizabeth Henderson Clark.

He came to this city January, 1926 and was a contractor by occupation. He married Miss Elizabeth Kohl at Sandusky, April 2, 1911.

The deceased was a veteran of the Civil war serving in Company M, 12th regiment O. V. I. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

One son and three daughters survive. They are Russell M. Clark, of Detroit, Michigan; Mrs. Lovella Myers, of Columbus; Mrs. Ometta Ruff, of this city and Miss Ida May Clark of Huntington, West Virginia.

Of his immediate family one brother and one sister are living. They are Mrs. M. L. Coneard and Samuel Clark, of Columbus. Ten grandchildren and four great-grandchildren survive.

The funeral arrangements have not been made.

TEN THOUSAND RIOTERS ON BOSTON COMMON

Sacco and Vanzetti Meeting Dispersed by the Police—Speaker Was Arrested

A protest meeting of more than 10,000 sympathizers of Nicola Sacco and Barolomeo Vanzetti, ended in a riot on Boston Common, late Sunday.

Mounted and foot police surged down on the crowd and notified the speakers that the meeting could not go on.

Harry Cantor, chairman of the meeting, was speaking from a box when Michael Crowley, police superintendent, notified him that the permit for the meeting had been revoked.

"The police have just informed us that our permit has been revoked," shouted Cantor, "but I think the meeting should go on."

Cantor immediately was jerked from the box and rushed thru the crowd by a half dozen officers.

A riot call was sent in and scores of patrolmen poured over the commons and thru the crowd. Several persons were knocked down. A number of officers drew their clubs. Police had a hard time clearing the commons.

In addition to Cantor they arrested Edwin H. James, wealthy sympathizer of Sacco and Vanzetti, and Alfred Friedman, one of the leaders.

A movement was started by the crowd to storm the state house, just across the street, and a great human tide swept in that direction but was checked by police.

For a time it looked as tho police were helpless, but reinforcements in clanging patrol wagons sped to the scene and gained mastery of the situation.

A man walking on his hands from Dublin to Belfast, 100 miles, on a wager caused such a sensation that police were called out to regulate traffic. The man saves wear and tear on his hands by the use of special sandals. He is accompanied by a goat harnessed to a little cart, which carries a camping outfit.

The Fool's Doctors

After lying in a hospital at Springfield, Mass., for six months, paralyzed from the waist down by a bullet which severed his spinal column, a woman now is on the road to recovery. Physicians, operated at the time, but expected her death with a few days. They say there is no similar case on record.

Lord Made Lots of Them

There are probably three and one-half million kinds of insects in the world, say the scientists, and this doesn't include the kind that thinks the girls are all crazy about him.—Capper's Weekly.

CONSTANT WAR ON THE CLOTHES MOTH

Insect Pest Always Enemy of Mankind.

The necessities of life for civilized man are food, shelter and clothing. The insignificant clothes moth has for thousands of years affected the customs of human beings by attacking one of the necessities of life, wool, the principal material that man uses to conserve the heat of his body. writes Prof. Harold S. Colton in the Scientific Monthly. That the moth was a pest to the ancient Hebrews the Bible testifies in many places, but in no place does it give a hint as to how the people reacted toward the moth, except in horror.

Aristotle, at the time of Alexander the Great, in his "History of Animals," book 5, chapter 26, however, does give us a hint. "There are other small animals," says he, "... some of which occur in wool and woollen goods, as the ses (clothes moth), and these animals come in the greatest numbers when the wool is dusty." We infer by this that the housekeeper in the Greece of Alexander the Great brushed clothes to keep out the moths.

From the writings of that good old Roman country squire, Marcus Porcius Cato, known in history as the elder Cato, we learn that clothes stored in a box in which amara has been rubbed will be safe from moths. I wondered for a while what amara could be, until in the works of the Roman agriculturist, Varro, I found that it is a substance prepared from the watery dregs of olives after the oil has been extracted. This liquid, after being reduced by boiling to one-third its bulk, is recommended as a disinfectant, a sheep dip, a cattle food and a fertilizer—surely a handy thing to have around the house.

With Pliny (70 A. D.) the methods of conservation became more and more fanciful. "A suit of clothes placed upon a coffin will be forever proof against the teeth of moths." Recipes of this sort were common in the Middle Ages. A few dead Spanish flies (a kind of beetle) suspended in a house will drive away moths, while clothes "wrapped in the skin of a lion have nothing to fear." We have no way of judging how many housewives followed these methods. In France, about 1737, we know from Reaumur that it was the custom of housewives to beat and brush their hangings at least once a year and store their clothes in boxes with pine cones.

Miss Amy Barr, of Circleville Was Among Two Thousand Who Participated.

Keen interest was shown by residents of this city in the $2,000 cash prizes essay contest conducted by the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages on the subject; "Why Bottled Carbonated Beverages are Good and Good for you," according to information received today from the Bottlers' National association headquarters at Washington.

Ten capital prizes ranging from $1,000 to $20 were awarded. In addition, prizes of $5 were given to 20 other persons.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, well known health authority and United States senator from New York; Dr. W. W. Skinner, assistant chief of the bureau of chemistry in the United States department of agriculture and A. H. Kirchhofer, formerly president of the National Press club at Washington and now managing editor of the Buffalo Evening News, formed the judging committee.

Points cited generally in the essays submitted were that bottled carbonated beverages are pure, wholesome and delicious, have a distinct dietetic value, quench thirst and restore energy.

Among the 2,000 essays which came in from all parts of the United States and Europe was one from Miss Amy Barr, of Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Colley Young of Lima, were weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aden Aldenderfer and her grandfather, Leonard Barthelmas.

Miss Margaret Elston, Mrs. Charles Meeks, Russell Armstrong and Miss Ruth Mack were weekend guests of the last named's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mack.

Mrs. Lewis Hohenstine has gone to Buffalo, New York, where she will be a guest of the Larkin company at the Hotel Statler, for a week and she will also visit Mr. and Mrs. P. S. English.

James A. Knapp, of the department of rural economics of the U. S. department of agriculture, Washington D. C., was in the city Saturday making a survey of the cooperative work of the Pickaway County Farm bureau.

Mrs. H. P. Folsom returned Sunday from a three weeks' visit with Mrs. Ashley F. Wilson, of Wellesley Farms, Massachusetts. While on this visit they enjoyed a delightful motor trip thru Maine and New Hampshire.

Exempted From Warfare

The selective service law in vogue during the World war provided exemption to "a member of a well-recognized religious sect or organization, organized and existing on May 18, 1917, whose ten existing creed or principles forbid its members to participate in war in any form, and whose religious convictions are against war or participation therein."

Odd Punishment
Around 1800 the law had a "bite" to it in Trumbull county, Ohio, for an old history tells what a self-organized tribunal did to a man convicted of stealing from his fellow boarder. The defendant was sentenced to be "divested of his apparel, tied to a tree, and subjected to the bites of mosquitoes for an hour."

AID SOCIETY HAD MEETING IN COLUMBUS

St. Paul Ladies' Aid Had a Very Good Session With Mrs. Eliza Valentine.

Fifteen members of the St. Paul's Ladies' Aid society, of Washington township, motored to Columbus on Thursday, July 28, to hold their regular July meeting with Mrs. Eliza Valentine, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Lewis A. Myers, 139 Stauring street.

Mrs. Valentine, who is sixty-nine years of age, and one of the oldest members of the society, was a charter member when it was organized, about twenty years ago. She has always been a very faithful and a very active member and her presence at the meetings has been greatly missed since she moved to Columbus several years ago.

At the noon hour members of the Aid and friends enjoyed a basket dinner.

Mrs. D. A. Bowman, acting president, was in charge of the regular monthly business session which was held in the afternoon.

After the business meeting, the following program, prepared by the July program committee was given: Hymn—"We'll Work Till Jesus Comes" and Psalms of Victory.

Sung by a Ladies' Quintet Mrs. S. L. Warner, Mrs. W. H. Stout, Mrs. S. A. Bowman, Miss Salie Leist, Mrs. Ollie Stout (The older hymns were chosen especially for Mrs. Valentine's enjoyment).

Reading—"Tomorrow" Mrs. M. A. Leist

Talk—"Origin and Influence of the Song 'Brighten the Corner Where You Are'" Mrs. A. B. Glick

Contest—in charge of Mrs. Lewis A. Myers

Hymns "In the Sweet Bye-and-Bye" and "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" Ladies' Quartet

The following from Circleville attended the meeting: Mrs. S. L. Warner, Mrs. D. A. Bowman, Miss Sadie Leist, Mrs. M. A. Leist, Mrs. G. M. Wertman, Mrs. D. A. Marshall, Mrs. Ollie Stout, Mrs. Charles Helvering, Mrs. Mayme Leist, Miss Nellie Bolender, Mrs. W. H. Stout, Mrs. A. B. Glick, Mrs. H. E. Leist, Mrs. D. C. Heffner, Miss Mildred Wertman and Marvin Marshall.

Greater Safety in Flying Is Expected as the Result of Jenkins' Invention.

Washington.—A propeller-reversing device which, it is announced, will permit an airplane to be brought to a stop within twice its own length after it touches the ground, has been evolved by C. Francis Jenkins of Washington.

Announcing his new invention, for which a patent has been issued, Mr. Jenkins said that it would now be possible to establish air fields directly in cities and on the roofs of large buildings and eliminate the "slow and costly hauling of mail, express, and passengers from suburban fields to their real destination."

"The reversing lever is so geared," he explained, "that it cannot be moved while the plane is in the air, thereby eliminating the danger that the pilot might accidentally pull the lever. When the airplane strikes the ground, a spring automatically releases the safety guard on the reversing control and the aviator is free to bring his plane to rest on ground, deck, or sea, almost as instantaneously as a bird ceases flight."

Other benefits of the new device were outlined thus:

"The general use of airplanes for suburb to city passenger service is brought nearer."

"Planes can approach landing fields at a greater rate of speed than before has been possible."

"Tragedies like the wrecking of the giant Sikorsky plane, which failed to rise in its attempted flight to Paris, will be safeguarded against. With the new device, the aviator, when he realizes that his take-off is a failure, can stop the plane."

Painted Red Cross Building
When the Red Cross building at Charleston, W. Va., was discovered to be badly in need of a coat of paint and the Red Cross treasury was without funds for the work, members of John Brawley post of the American Legion bought paint, donned overalls and completed the job in one afternoon.

Bellingham, Wash.—A grinding iceberg, 300 feet wide and 2,000 feet long, ended a seven-mile trip in which it destroyed everything in its path, when it was broken up in the Nooksack river, 35 miles from here.

The great mass of ice was broken from Denning glacier on Mount Baker a few days ago.

Trees, railroads and bridges were either swept aside or ground to bits. The ground over which the glacier passed is bare of even remnants of anything which stood there before, according to A. S. Athern, state forest ranger.

The beds of Glacier creek and the middle fork of Nooksack river were torn wide for a depth of more than 30 feet and a width of 100 feet.

Damage to tracks and bridges of the Tacoma and St. Paul Logging company was estimated at $50,000.

Pieces of the great iceberg as large as houses still were melting along the pathway where they were broken off.

Woman's Valuable Idea

The idea of using cotton fiber for thread was conceived by Mrs. Samuel Slater of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, in 1794, according to Liberty. Previously the only thread used was hand-twisted linen, sold in hanks, just as knitting yarn is sold today.

BROWN COUNTY JUDGE DIED AT WORTHINGTON

James W. Tarbell Passed Away at Home of Brother -- Funeral at Georgetown.

Judge James William Tarbell, 61, of Georgetown, common pleas judge of Brown county since 1912 and known thruout Ohio legal circles, died Sunday morning of heart trouble at the home of his brother, Dr. Robert C. Tarbell, near Worthington.

Judge Tarbell had been in ill health for more than two years but seemed much improved upon his return several months ago from Florida. A heavy court docket caused him to overestimate his strength and he was stricken about a month ago. He had been at his brother's home for the last two weeks.

The son of David S. Tarbell and Nancy Sallee Tarbell, pioneer families in southern Ohio, Judge Tarbell early followed in the career of his father, who spent more than 20 years in public life and served two terms on the common pleas bench.

Besides his brother, Dr. Tarbell, the judge is survived by his widow, Edith Cahall Tarbell; his son, David Perry, 15; one sister, Mrs. Julia T. Buchanan, 259 South Eighteenth street, Columbus, and another brother, David S. Tarbell, retired newspaper man, of Norwood.

Funeral services in Georgetown, his home and birthplace, at 2 o'clock Wednesday.

AMUSEMENTS

A picture described as the world's funniest comedy comes to the Met theater today. It is "Rookies" with Karl Dane and George K. Arthur featured as a new comedy team with Marceline Day in the leading feminine role. Sam Wood directed this new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer success from a story and continuity by Byron Morgan.

"Rookies" tells an exceedingly amusing tale of life in a citizens' military training camp. Dane has the role of a hard-boiled top-sergeant whose rival for the hand of Marceline Day is a scrappy young private played in inimitable fashion by George K. Arthur. The warfare between these two is carried on thru scenes of alternate laughter and terror, as many episodes take place in a runaway balloon above the clouds.

Cooperation from the United States government in staging this production has made possible an authentic and graphic background of military life in the training camps.

KEEPING QUALITIES

Makes Bacon and Ham Summer Favorites.

During the summer months, keeping foods in good condition is an important consideration. Perhaps refrigeration facilities are inadequate; perhaps the supplies for a camping trip are under discussion; at any rate the problem is to provide foods which will not spoil readily. Because of their excellent keeping qualities ham and bacon come at the head of the list. Besides, these meats blend well with other foods; in fact, they often enhance the flavor of dishes which might otherwise be flat and tasteless.

A cool, dry place is best for keeping these meats, either before or after cooking. If part of a ham is cut off and used, brush the exposed surface of the remainder with a little vinegar. Pickled vinegar, if on hand, is still better, as it adds desirable flavor.

If ham or bacon is to be carried some distance to a camp, it should be well wrapped in heavy oil paper, with an outer covering of cloth.

"Betty" Dress, Designed for the Little Misses

The hollyhock pockets on the dress are the irresistible feature of "Betty," a new Woman's Home Companion dress for little girls. They are applied in deep rose on pale pink or in deep blue on pale blue and each flower is designed to hold a tiny kerchief. Neck and sleeves are bound in the deeper color in each case.

Women's fads and fancies often are the basis of success of large businesses. The prevalent fancy for light-colored stockings, fancy scarfs and fabric gloves are responsible for a great increase in the use of hot water and of gas, according to a survey made by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Sudden and large increases in the use of gas in many cities and towns caused gas company officials to become curious as to the cause of the water heaters working overtime and occasioned the house-to-house survey.

According to the survey stockings of light hue are changed several times a day, sometimes oftener if the weather is stormy. Washable gloves are changed at least once a day and twice if there is an evening engagement. Both stockings and gloves are invariably washed at home in hot water. Thus, the fancy is good for the gas company.

Scarfs and bobbed hair are responsible for a further increase in the use of hot water and of gas, not to mention various articles of female apparel, the survey states.

Feather Flowers Well Liked by Paris Women

Of accessories that are smart in Paris just now, it is perhaps worth noting that boutonnières continue much in the limelight, and that Parisiennes take kindly to feather flowers, which, it is reported over here, are not so well liked. All of the shops appear to show them in profusion, and one sees a number worn, particularly carnations, although they now come in every conceivable sort of flower, even tiny field blossoms.

The shops are also said to be selling a considerable number of the really pink suede gloves that Alexandrine brought out some time ago. One does not, however, see many of them worn, women continuing to prefer a more beige cast to match their stockings. Illustrative of how much attention is paid to the matter of making one's stockings harmonize with the rest of one's costumes, Mme. Yteb was seen recently at the Ritz in a black satin dress that had a loose scarf panel faced in a deep burnt beige, almost brown, to match her stockings.

May Show Elbows and Still Be in Fashion

During the past few seasons it seemed that a woman could show as much of her leg as she pleased but woe be unto the female who showed an arm above the wristwatch! Arms were considered decidedly vulgar for street purposes even during the warmest summer weather.

Now, however, one may display a dimpled elbow if one wishes. The censors have turned thumbs up when it comes to sleeves this year. Many of the better class sports frocks are sleeveless. But, even now, one must sneak up on the sleeveless vogue for though the frock is sleeveless the accompanying jacket is certain to be long sleeved.

Trouser Skirts Likely to Receive Approval

Wise heads which thought that the outburst of trouser skirts earlier in the season was only a form of spring madness now foresee a serious movement towards divided skirts. As long as women wear their skirts on a level with their knees the problem of how to preserve a modest appearance when seated in a low, easy chair must be dealt with.

Dressmakers continue to herald trousers as the solution. The midsummer collections, as well as the advance autumn styles retain the divided and knickerbocker skirt ideas. Many skirts which are not divided have matching knickers beneath them.

Why Mince Words?

This is the open season when automobile manufacturers go gunning for buyers. Read the extravagant claims... the boasts... the adjectives and superlatives. You are entitled to the facts. Every high priced, largest-type car has lost sales this year. Although several of the smaller, low-priced cars show gains, the industry as a whole shows a loss as this is written. Yet in contrast Auburn in the first 5½ months of this year built as many cars as all of last year. And in 1926 Auburn doubled its production over 1925. New type merchandise, of greater value for less money did it. Cars that perform better, ride and drive easier and endure longer did it. The Straight Eight type of car is the undisputed leader today. No Straight Eight is more successful than Auburn. Facts prove it, in the hands of owners as well as in official contests conducted by the American Automobile Association. The reasons for Auburn's extraordinary success are all built into the car itself. We claim it is the greatest value on the market..... bar none..... and will let the car itself prove it with you at the wheel.

THE HOME OF

W. A. ANDERSON

In Pickaway Township Has Been Entered Twice Within the Past Two Weeks.

The home of W. A. Anderson on the Harry Montelius farm in Pickaway township, has been the scene of two daring robberies within the past week. Clothing and some jewelry have been taken and it is thought the thieves are members of a gang of workers in an Norfolk & Western camp near this farm.

The first time the thieves entered the house was Thursday evening, one week ago, between 7 and 8 o'clock when Mrs. Anderson and her children with Wenrich Arledge, who is employed by Mr. Anderson, had gone into town for some supplies and as Mr. Anderson came into the house from the barn after watering the stock he heard some one but thought it was Mr. Arledge whom he did not know had accompanied the family. He also heard the man come down the stairs and go out the back door and the theft was not discovered until the return of the family when the Arledge boy found his clothing gone. Mr. Anderson then discovered that all his personal belongings had been taken. The Arledge boy also lost a class ring to the thieves upon this visit.

On Thursday evening of this week, Mr. Montelius was returning to his home from the Andersons' at about 6 o'clock in the evening when he noticed two colored men attempting to place a ladder against his house to the window of the upper story. When he called to them they fled.

Sheriff Davis and his deputies and a number of the neighbors then formed a posse and endeavored to find the thieves but they eluded them, escaping through a cornfield.

Between 1 and 2 o'clock Friday morning Mr. Arledge was awakened by some one trying to enter his room and when he called to him thinking it was Mr. Anderson, the man fled. He then aroused the family and Mr. Anderson found the dresser drawers in his own room had been ransacked and his watch and some change pilfered from his pocket at the side of his bed. The thieves had made preparations for this raid as the distributor wires in the Anderson machine had been cut as well as the telephone wires.

A search of the basement brought to light the fact that one of the thieves had changed clothing there as an old pair of shoes and a shirt were found. It is thought that entrance was gained through the coal chute into the basement.

While endeavoring to track the thieves yesterday morning, Mr. Anderson found that they traveled a rather circuitous course through the cornfield. By going straight through for about 8 rows they would back-track almost the same number and then take another course, this had been done a number of times until they reached the pasture field where all tracks were lost.

The family of Mr. Anderson are all suffering from the nervous shock sustained from these nocturnal visits.

Home Furnished Payne

Inspiration for Song

The old farmhouse at Easthampton, Long Island, which was the inspiration of the famous song, "Home, Sweet Home," is to be sold, and its fate remains uncertain. John Howard Payne, the author of the song, spent his boyhood years in the staunch old structure, which is said to have been built 237 years ago by a Robert Dayton. When in later life, Payne became an actor and author, memories of his life on the farm inspired the well-known words of the famous song first sung in his long-forgotten opera, "The Maid of Milan." The weather-beaten old house nestles under huge shade trees, and presents a pretty picture, but its chief value is sentimental. The community in which it stands was founded by English settlers, who called their village Maldstone, after the English town from which they came.

Nature's Regulation

Although there are from twenty to sixty more male babies than female babies in every 1,000 babies born, there are more women than men in the civilized countries of the world, according to an answered question in Liberty. This is because more male babies die in infancy, and men are more liable than women to death by accident.

LONG RANGE AIR

COMPETITION

Inquiries received by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reveal a growing interest in many cities, stimulated, no doubt, by Col. Lindbergh's flight, in the possibilities of air transport. Commercial organizations are beginning to ask themselves what the future will bring forth and what steps may be taken to reap the harvest of this development, recognizing that port and terminal facilities often-times determines the course transportation takes.

In response to these inquiries the Transportation Department of the National Chamber suggests that it is the part of wisdom to acquire sites for airports, by lease or option, if not by purchase, in order that the necessary ports may be established when they are needed.

"The selection of an airport site," it recommends, "should be definitely linked with city planning. Nearness to the business center and accessibility to the public are of prime importance, and due account should be taken of local transportation and communication facilities. Ground communication by rail, motor or launch should be as rapid as possible in order that the benefit of air speed may not be lost."

"Zoning as well as city's planning should be considered. The area adjacent to a landing field will probably have a commercial or industrial development and the height of buildings surrounding the field will be a factor in its usefulness."

Drove Hard Bargain

A man tells this story of his college days:

He was accosted on the street one day by a stranger who offered to sell at a bargain a ring which he said he had found in the washroom of a hotel. The ring had a large stone set. The stranger asked $5 for the ring, but after much haggling took 25 cents.

The student put on his new mark of opulence and went down to the college with the expectation of making an impression, but on arriving, he found others had made similar bargains, paying from 10 cents to $4.

Chinese "Venice"

Soochow, one of the oldest and most famous cities in China, is known as the "Venice of the Far East," because of the large number of canals with which it is intersected.

NO TEACHERS,

SCHOOLS CLOSE

Australia has a shortage of teachers, and many schools have been forced to close. In Victoria more than 300 are needed, and 30 county schools are having enforced vacations. To cope with the situation the department of education is employing 100 married women, mostly former instructors. The teachers' union explains that low salaries, many receiving less than $15 a week, and unreasonable restrictions, have caused many teachers to resign. Officials are considering salary increases.

Strictly
a "one purpose" tobacco
for pipes and nothing else

TOBACCOS which are made both for rolling cigarettes and for pipes are cut fine . . . you might say they are fine for cigarettes but too fine for pipes. For the finer the cut, the faster (and hotter) it burns.

Granger Tobacco, cut for pipes only, and mellowed by an old-time tobacco secret . . .

burns more slowly
lasts longer and
smokes cooler

A WORD ABOUT LOADING YOUR PIPE: Instead of pouring Granger in as you would a granulated cut, put in a third of a pipeful, press it down firmly, then another third; then heaping full. Light it around the edges as well as in the middle . . . and you're all set for a long, cool smoke . . .

Doctor Dresses Own

Injuries, Saves Baby

New York.—Diphtheria of the larynx threatened to choke the life out of Jane, the baby daughter of Policeman Hugo G. Geissele, Maplewood, N. J.

An immediate operation, known as "intubation," was all that could save her; Dr. D. J. Pola, ten miles away, started to Jane's bedside in an ambulance, with Miss Marion Raitzel, a nurse, and Gustave Schmidt, driver. Another vehicle cut across Schmidt's course. The ambulance swerved and crashed into a steel trolley pole, a complete wreck. Its occupants were severely cut and battered.

The young physician, nevertheless, applied emergency dressing to Jane's companions' injuries and his own, then commandeered an automobile, which rushed him and the nurse to the Geissele home. He and Doctor Demarest successfully operated on the baby.

Mistaken pedagogy that seeks to force the left-handed child to right-handedness is responsible for a tragically large number of cases of stuttering in American schools, according to a survey of the National Protective League for Stammerers, made public in Indianapolis by Benjamin N. Bogue, president, and one of the country's leading authorities on speech.

"Attempted correction of the use of the left hand is the starting point of speech defects in thousands of boys and girls between 6 and 14 years of age," the survey states. "Stuttering and stammering are much more serious than defective articulation and give a darker outlook for improvement or cure, in that with the confirmed stutterer institutional care is a primary essential.

"Too strong emphasis can not be placed on the peril of attempting to develop by undue stress a right-handed boy or girl from a left-handed one, for, while the essential cause of left-handedness remains in some doubt, there is good reason to believe it is a deep-seated anatomic one. Such a cause obviously can not yield to training.

Police Take Kick Out of Limehouse Nights

London.—American tourists who come to London with an idea of finding adventure in "wild and woolly" Limehouse are doomed to disappointment.

That picturesque section of the London dock district is no longer the place Hollywood motion pictures portray. The Shingled cafe, one of the last business establishments to sell Limehouse "atmosphere" to tourists, has united up its front door on Limehouse causeway and moved to Solihull where it can depend on a regular clientele for its chop story.

Americans report to their tourist agencies that they are disgusted with the quiet evenings they have wasted in Limehouse looking for excitement. Cester boys with dirty necks and mottlers instead of collars and ties are the most picturesque things they see, and an evening spent in the neighborhood is as quiet as a Sunday school festival.

Those who hanker for "the good old days" when crimes were frequent should blame it on Inspector Hall, who has just retired from the criminal investigation department of Scotland Yard.

He is known as the man who cleaned up Limehouse. Ten years ago Inspector Hall took charge of the dock district. At that time Limehouse was infested with criminals of every nationality, and every street had its opium dens and white slave dives.

Will Furnish Music at State Fair—Chance to Enter the Big Blow is Yet Open.

The All-Ohio State Fair band will again be back at the Ohio State fair, August 29 to September 3, under the direction of J. W. Wainwright, of Fostoria. This announcement was made by Director of Agriculture C. V. Truax.

Different sections of the band are at present practicing at a summer camp at Oliver Lake, LaGrange, Indiana, where they are under the instructions of Wainwright, Guy V. Sutphen, of Toledo, and Superintendent Clark, of the Kenton public schools. Sutphen is assistant music director of the camp and Clark is the director.

Four days before the opening of the fair, the entire group of three hundred boys will be assembled at the fair grounds, where they will spend their time organizing for the activities of the week. They will practice as one large unit and will also be divided into several smaller organizations. Each of these will be under the leadership of one of the assistant directors and will play at different places in the grounds. These boys will form a town of their own at the fair grounds, with a complete organization. They will be housed in tents and cooks provided to prepare their meals.

The fair this fall marks the fourth year that patrons have been privileged to hear an All-Ohio band. In 1924, a high school band contest was conducted over the entire state by the Ohio State fair management. Six organizations judged to be the best in Ohio were taken to Columbus at the expense of the State fair, and encamped on the grounds during the entire week. They played each day and were judged in their six-day performance.

For the past three years, Wainwright has visited Ohio high schools and selected individuals for the All-Ohio band, judging them on their individual merit. The same procedure is being followed this year, only the musicians of unusual ability being selected.

All those who still desire to enter the band may apply to J. W. Wainwright, box 75, Fostoria, Ohio.

CANDIDATES ANXIOUS FOR FRAY TUESDAY

Election Booths Will Open at 5:30 O'clock Central Standard Time.

The primaries open Tuesday morning on Central Standard time, 5:30 o'clock and close at 5:30 p. m.

The Democratic candidates who are up for honors are: Mayor, George M. Fitzpatrick and George E. Hammel; president of council, John C. Goeller Sr.; auditor, Miss Lillian Young and Mrs. Ella Stout Lindsey; treasurer, George W. Myers; solicitor, Paul E. Adkins; councilmen-at-large; E. S. Neuding, W. F. Baker and Frank A. Marion.

The Third ward offers Adam Goldhart and Clarence Wolf and the Second ward, Willis Henn; Fourth ward, Henry S. Leist and First C. O. Leist.

The only contests are for mayor, auditor and Third ward councilman. The Republicans have no one running, but it is understood that names may be written on the ballot.

FOLKSBURG ITEMS

Among other things we've been needing rain in Folksburg lately, and looks like we're going to get it soon. Right now a big black cloud is heaving up over the hill toward Blue River. The edges are tumbling over and over, and there's a lot of mumbly thunder that's getting louder all the time. It's coming fast. The neighbors are beginning to call the children and running to shut the windows and bring in the cushions off of the porch swings.

Joe Dodds, who has been making a prolonged effort to sell his automobile, drove up to the city last Saturday thinking maybe he could dispose of it. And he could have sold it to a firm up there, but they didn't offer him quite enough to pay his railroad fare back, so he kept it to come home in.

It's been noticed around town how Sam Solomon's boy, Bennie, wears his coat nearly all the time no matter how hot it is. And when somebody asked him why that was, Sam said the coat is going to be too small by another year, and he wants Bennie to get all the wear out of it he can.

Ben Hobson, who has been putting off painting his garage ever since he built it, jumped at a chance last week to let some sign painters from the city paint a big sign all over the east side of it.

Jason Crabb was called on the phone yesterday and asked would he move some rubbish he had piled in the alley by his house, and which had nearly blocked up the road. Jason said tolerably abruptly that he wouldn't, but when he was informed that it was Marshal Bailey speaking, he reconsidered quick and said he would.

Uncle Bill Bobbitt got a letter the other day from somebody off from here that wanted to sell him stock in an oil well and they said being it was him they wanted to let him in on the ground floor. And Uncle Bill said he appreciated their thoughtfulness, but he imagined if he was to buy much stock like that he soon would have the ground for a floor.

The town pump at the postoffice corner was out of order one of the hottest days last week, and several thought Leander Martin, who runs an ice cream stand nearby, had something to do with it. We don't know about that, but he did do a big business in pop while the water supply was off.

Grover Morgan and his wife took a portion of their relatives out for an automobile ride Saturday afternoon, and Mrs. Morgan was put in considerable suspense until they got back home. Some of the folks kept pointing out things to look at and Mrs. Morgan was afraid it would divert Grover's mind, which she knew he didn't have any to spare for his driving.

While Andrew Allen was waiting in the barber shop yesterday he started advising how people oughtn't ever let themselves get upset over little things, and he said he had himself under control so he could always stay calm. And while he was talking somebody took his turn in the barber chair by mistake, and as soon as Andrew noticed it, he rushed out tolerably huffy saying something about he'd shave himself from then on.

Alce Powers was speaking recently how some people can't take an interest in anything unless there's something in it for them. And he said they're losing a lot by being that way, for if they only knew it, nobody takes much interest in them.

Zeno Rogers, who has been trying all kinds of remedies to reduce his weight, gained three more pounds last week.

That rain which we spoke of is here and we're being called to know have we attended to our regular duty of putting all the pans under the leaks. Which we haven't, so it looks like we'll have to stop at this point.

Caters to Motorists; Pastor Fills Church

London.—"Sunday motorists who wish to call in at my church can park their cars in the drive and use my garden," announced Rev. W. H. Ridgway, vicar of Tarvin, recently.

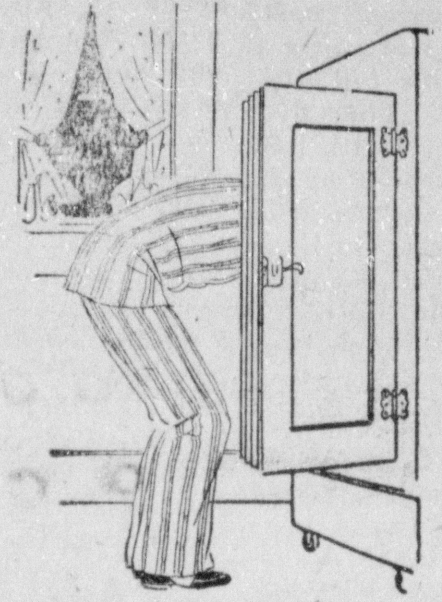

As a result of the invitation, which includes the right for motorists who accept to have their lunch in the vicar's garden after attending services at the church, every Sunday there is a long row of motor cars in the rectory drive; and the vicar preaches to a crowded church.

Vicar Ridgway's idea also encourages motorists from the city to visit the ancient churches in the neighborhood through which they pass and, with this object in view, the vicar is planning to form a sort of motoring guild of which regular members will be a nucleus of sporting churchgoers.

Those on the inside say congress wants relief from the farmers quite as badly as the farmers want relief from congress.

Honeymoons by Air Popular in England

London.—Many more women use the airplane service between England and the continent than men. There has been a large increase in the number of young honeymooners who travel by air rather than put up with the discomforts of cross-channel steamer travel.
 Close observers say that the women seem much more at home several thousand feet in the air than the male passenger. Increased facilities for flying now make it possible for the wealthy woman to leave Croydon in the morning, fly to Paris for shopping, and be back in England in time for dinner.
 Several well-known society women have made several such trips this season.

OF STRAITS OF GIBRALTAR

Spanish Economist Sees Vast Possibilities in Harnessing Powerful Stream.

Madrid.—The currents passing from the Atlantic ocean into the Mediterranean sea, and vice versa, produce an enormous power that could be used and transformed into electricity, according to Don Emilio Zurano Munoz, prominent Spanish economist, who has completed a preliminary study of the question, and submitted it to King Alfonso XIII.

Zurano calculated that one current going through the Strait of Gibraltar, coming from the Atlantic ocean and carrying a yearly volume of 26,000 cubic kilometers of water, at an average speed of ten kilometers per hour, and the other current crossing underneath from the Mediterranean into the ocean, with a yearly volume of 3,000 cubic kilometers saturated with salt, can be turned into a formidable continual electric power of over 30 milliards of horse power.

In the document addressed to the king, Zurano said the maximum power lies in the bay west of Algeria, but that power is also available in other points on both sides of the strait.

Explaining the course of energy there, Zurano pointed out that to get an appropriate idea of the water flowing every year into the Mediterranean sea, one must imagine a huge cube of water three times and one-third higher than Mount Everest running at 800,000 cubic meters of water per second. Adding the subcurrent which furnishes 95,000 cubic meters of water per second, the constant electrical power obtainable reaches 36,690,000, 000 horse power.

Kiss in the Dark Gets Freedom for Prisoner

Paris.—A kiss in the dark got a Frenchman out of prison the other day.

The prisoner, Fritz Gabriel, had been behind the bars for two years and had several more to serve. His wife came to see him. At the leavetaking in the dark corridor Gabriel and his wife embraced with especial warmth, the parting kiss being so movie-like in length that the guards noticed it and were moved.

Gabriel had a slip of paper in his cheek. It passed his wife's lips during the embrace. On the paper was written:

"Tomorrow, during the recreation hour, I will jump over the wall. Have a vehicle waiting for me on the other side of the moat."

Mrs. Gabriel had the vehicle. Her husband got away and hasn't been heard of since.

Odd Styles Feature
Weddings in Africa

Boma, Belgian Congo.—Natives of the remote Kasai region of Africa have taken a liking to the fashions of civilization.

"The first converted native couples
 I married," said Father Achille de Munster, a missionary in the district for the last 20 years, "wore nothing but a loin cloth. But you should see them now. Recently I married 15 couples. They all sported white suits and the brides wore shoes and hats and their black faces were literally powdered white.

"Some had on one white shoe and one black. They seemed to think that was the height of chic."

One bridegroom, Father Munster said, fainted from the heat and his costume of two pairs of trousers, two shirts, two vests, two coats and a tight collar.

Cattle Become Wild
on Alaskan Island

Kodiak, Alaska.—Three hundred and fifty shorthorn cattle browse over the mountainous surface of tiny Chilikof Island, 200 miles out in the northern Pacific ocean from Kodiak.

More than 40 years ago the Alaska Commercial company, a developmen-concern long since extinct, stocked the island with a few head of tame cattle for experimental purposes. On the little isle with a surface of only 20 square miles, the cattle have degenerated from inbreeding and have become thoroughly wild, but the herd continues to thrive. Alaskans say the experiment at least has proved that cattle can be grown in the region.

Alexander M. Clark Answers
 the Last Roll Call--Was 82 Years of Age.

Alexander M. Clark died at his home, 339 East Union street, Monday morning, August 8, at 10:30 o'clock.

The deceased was born in Ireland,
 May 28, 1845, and was a son of William Thomas Clark and Elizabeth Henderson Clark.

He came to this city January, 1926 and was a contractor by occupation.
 He married Miss Elizabeth Kohl at Sandusky, April 2, 1911.

The deceased was a veteran of the Civil war serving in Company M, 12th regiment O. V. I. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

One son and three daughters survive. They are Russell M. Clark, of Detroit, Michigan; Mrs. Lovella
 Myers, of Columbus; Mrs. Ometta
 Ruff, of this city and Miss Ida May Clark of Huntington, West Virginia.

Of his immediate family one brother and one sister are living. They are Mrs. M. L. Conard and Samuel Clark, of Columbus. Ten grandchildren and four great-grandchildren survive.

The funeral arrangements have not been made.

RIOTERS ON BOSTON COMMON

Sacco and Vanzetti Meeting
 Dispersed by the Police--
 Speaker Was Arrested

A protest meeting of more than 10,000 sympathizers of Nicola Sacco and Barolomeo Vanzetti, ended in a riot on Boston Common, late Sunday.
 Mounted and foot police surged down on the crowd and notified the speakers that the meeting could not go on.

Harry Cantor, chairman of the meeting, was speaking from a box when Michael Crowley, police superintendent, notified him that the permit for the meeting had been revoked.

"The police have just informed us that our permit has been revoked," shouted Cantor, "but I think the meeting should go on."

Cantor immediately was jerked from the box and rushed thru the crowd by a half dozen officers.

A riot call was sent in and scores of patrolmen poured over the commons and thru the crowd. Several persons were knocked down. A number of officers drew their clubs. Police had a hard time clearing the commons.

In addition to Cantor they arrested
 Edwin H. James, wealthy sympathizer of Sacco and Vanzetti, and Alfred Friedman, one of the leaders.

A movement was started by the crowd to storm the state house, just across the street, and a great human tide swept in that direction but was checked by police.

For a time it looked as the police were helpless, but reinforcements in clanging patrol wagons sped to the scene and gained mastery of the situation.

A man walking on his hands from Dublin to Belfast, 100 miles, on a wager caused such a sensation that police were called out to regulate traffic. The man saves wear and tear on his hands by the use of special sandals. He is accompanied by a goat harnessed to a little cart, which carries a camping outfit.

The Fool's Doctors

After lying in a hospital at Springfield, Mass., for six months, paralyzed from the waist down by a bullet which severed her spinal column, a woman now is on the road to recovery. Phys-cians operated at the time, but expected her death with a few days.
 They say there is no similar case on record.

CONSTANT WAR ON
THE CLOTHES MOTH

Insect Pest Always Enemy
of Mankind.

The necessities of life for civilized man are food, shelter and clothing.
 The insignificant clothes moth has for thousands of years affected the customs of human beings by attacking one of the necessities of life, wool, the principal material that man uses to conserve the heat of his body.
 writes Prof. Harold S. Colton in the Scientific Monthly. That the moth was a pest to the ancient Hebrews the Bible testifies in many places, but in no place does it give a hint as to how the people reacted toward the moth, except in horror.

Aristotle, at the time of Alexander the Great, in his "History of Animals," book 5, chapter 26, however, does give us a hint. "There are other small animals," says he, "... some of which occur in wool and woolen goods, as the sea (clothes moth), and these animals come in the greatest numbers when the wool is dusty." We infer by this that the housekeeper in the Greece of Alexander the Great brushed clothes to keep out the moths.

From the writings of that good old Roman country squire, Marcus Porcius
 Cato, known in history as the elder Cato, we learn that clothes stored in a box in which amara has been rubbed will be safe from moths. I wondered for a while what amara could be, until in the works of the Roman agriculturist, Varro, I found that it is a substance prepared from the watery dregs of olives after the oil has been extracted. This liquid, after being reduced by boiling to one-third its bulk, is recommended as a disinfectant, a sheep dip, a cattle food and a fertilizer—surely a handy thing to have around the house.

With Pliny (70 A. D.) the methods of conservation became more and more fanciful. "A suit of clothes placed upon a coffin will be forever proof against the teeth of moths."
 Recipes of this sort were common in the Middle ages. A few dead Spanish flies (a kind of beetle) suspended in a house will drive away moths, while clothes "wrapped in the skin of a lion have nothing to fear." We have no way of judging how many housewives followed these methods. In France, about 1737, we know from Reaumur that it was the custom of housewives to beat and brush their hangings at least once a year and store their clothes in boxes with pine cones.

Miss Amy Barr, of Circleville Was Among Two Thousand Who Participated.

Keen interest was shown by residents of this city in the $2,000 cash prizes essay contest conducted by the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages on the subject; "Why Bottled Carbonated Beverages are Good and Good for you," according to information received today from the Bottlers' National association headquarters at Washington.

Ten capital prizes ranging from $1,000 to $20 were awarded. In addition, prizes of $5 were given to 20 other persons.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, well known health authority and United States senator from New York; Dr. W. W. Skinner, assistant chief of the bureau of chemistry in the United States department of agriculture and A. H. Kirchhofer, formerly president of the National Press club at Washington and now managing editor of the Buffalo Evening News, formed the judging committee.

Points cited generally in the essays submitted were that bottled carbonated beverages are pure, wholesome and delicious, have a distinct dietetic value, quench thirst and restore energy.

Among the 2,000 essays which came in from all parts of the United States and Europe was one from Miss Amy Barr, of Circleville.

Post Erects Street Signs

The hundred vacationists who go to Grand Haven, Mich., each summer will have no trouble finding their way about the city in the future. They will find the streets marked by signs erected by the local post of the American Legion. About two hundred signs will be erected by the Legionnaires in co-operation with city officials.

Exempted From Warfare

The selective service law in vogue during the World war provided exemption to "a member of a well-recognized religious sect or organization, organized and existing on May 18, 1917, whose then existing creed or principles forbid its members to participate in war in any form, and whose religious convictions are against war or participation therein."

Odd Punishment

Around 1800 the law had a "bite" to it in Trumbull county, Ohio, for an old history tells what a self-organized tribunal did to a man convicted of stealing from his fellow boarder. The defendant was sentenced to be "divested of his apparel, tied to a tree, and subjected to the bites of mosquitoes for an hour."

AID SOCIETY HAD MEETING IN COLUMBUS

St. Paul Ladies' Aid Had a Very Good Session With Mrs. Eliza Valentine.

Fifteen members of the St. Paul's Ladies' Aid society, of Washington township, motored to Columbus on Thursday, July 28, to hold their regular July meeting with Mrs. Eliza Valentine, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Lewis A. Myers, 139 Stauring street.

Mrs. Valentine, who is sixty-nine years of age, and one of the oldest members of the society, was a charter member when it was organized, about twenty years ago. She has always been a very faithful and a very active member and her presence at the meetings has been greatly missed since she moved to Columbus several years ago.

At the noon hour members of the Aid and friends enjoyed a basket dinner.

Mrs. D. A. Bowman, acting president, was in charge of the regular monthly business session which was held in the afternoon.

After the business meeting, the following program, prepared by the July program committee was given: Hymn—"We'll Work Till Jesus Comes" and Psalms of Victory Sung by a Ladies' Quintet. Mrs. S. L. Warner, Mrs. W. H. Stout, Mrs. S. A. Bowman, Miss Salie Leist, Mrs. Ollie Stout (The older hymns were chosen especially for Mrs. Valentine's enjoyment).

Reading—"Tomorrow"

..... Mrs. M. A. Leist Talk—"Origin and Influence of the Song 'Brighten the Corner Where You Are' " Mrs. A. B. Glick

..... Mrs. Lewis A. Myers Hymns "In the Sweet Bye-and-Bye" and "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" Ladies' Quartet

The following from Circleville attended the meeting; Mrs. S. L. Warner, Mrs. D. A. Bowman, Miss Sadie Leist, Mrs. M. A. Leist, Mrs. G. M. Wertman, Mrs. D. A. Marshall, Mrs. Ollie Stout, Mrs. Charles Helvering, Mrs. Mayme Leist, Miss Nellie Bolender, Mrs. W. H. Stout, Mrs. A. B. Glick, Mrs. H. E. Leist, Mrs. D. C. INVENTS DEVICE TO LAND PLANES ON SKYSCRAPERS

Greater Safety in Flying Is Expected as the Result of Jenkins' Invention.

Washington.—A propeller-reversing device which, it is announced, will permit an airplane to be brought to a stop within twice its own length after it touches the ground, has been evolved by C. Francis Jenkins of Washington.

Announcing his new invention, for which a patent has been issued, Mr. Jenkins said that it would now be possible to establish air fields directly in cities and on the roofs of large buildings and eliminate the "slow and costly hauling of mail, express, and passengers from suburban fields to their real destination."

"The reversing lever is so geared," he explained, "that it cannot be moved while the plane is in the air, thereby eliminating the danger that the pilot might accidentally pull the lever. When the airplane strikes the ground, a spring automatically releases the safety guard on the reversing control and the aviator is free to bring his plane to rest on ground, deck, or sea, almost as instantaneously as a bird ceases flight."

Other benefits of the new device were outlined thus: "The general use of airplanes for suburb to city passenger service is brought nearer."

"It is now possible to bring a seaplane to rest in the lee of a battleship, saving both plane and pilot under storm conditions."

"Planes can approach landing fields at a greater rate of speed than before has been possible."

Painted Red Cross Building

When the Red Cross building at Charleston, W. Va., was discovered to be badly in need of a coat of paint and the Red Cross treasury was without funds for the work, members of John Brawley post of the American Legion bought paint, donned overalls and completed the job in one afternoon.

Bellingham, Wash.—A grinding iceberg, 300 feet wide and 2,000 feet long, ended a seven-mile trip in which it destroyed everything in its path, when it was broken up in the Nooksack river, 35 miles from here.

The great mass of ice was broken from Deming glacier on Mount Baker a few days ago.

Trees, railroads and bridges were either swept aside or ground to bits. The ground over which the glacier passed is bare of even remnants of anything which stood there before, according to A. S. Athern, state forest ranger.

The beds of Glacier creek and the middle fork of Nooksack river were torn wide for a depth of more than 30 feet and a width of 100 feet.

Damage to tracks and bridges of the Tacoma and St. Paul Logging company was estimated at $50,000.

Pieces of the great iceberg as large as houses still were melting along the pathway where they were broken off.

Woman's Valuable Idea

The idea of using cotton fiber for thread was conceived by Mrs. Samuel Slater of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, in 1794, according to Liberty. Previously the only thread used was hand-twisted linen, sold in hanks, just as knitting yarn is sold today.

BROWN COUNTY JUDGE DIED AT WORTHINGTON

James W. Tarbell Passed Away at Home of Brother -- Funeral at Georgetown.

Judge James William Tarbell, 61, of Georgetown, common pleas judge of Brown county since 1912 and known thruout Ohio legal circles, died Sunday morning of heart trouble at the home of his brother, Dr. Robert C. Tarbell, near Worthington.

Judge Tarbell had been in ill health for more than two years but seemed much improved upon his return several months ago from Florida. A heavy court docket caused him to overestimate his strength and he was stricken about a month ago. He had been at his brother's home for the last two weeks.

The son of David S. Tarbill and Nancy Sallee Tarbell, pioneer families in southern Ohio, Judge Tarbell early followed in the career of his father, who spent more than 20 years in public life and served two terms on the common pleas bench.

Besides his brother, Dr. Tarbell, the judge is survived by his widow, Edith Cahall Tarbell; his son, David Perry, 15; one sister, Mrs. Julia T. Buchanan, 259 South Eighteenth street, Columbus, and another brother, David S. Tarbell, retired newspaper man, of Norwood.

Funeral services in Georgetown, his home and birthplace, at 2 o'clock Wednesday.

AMUSEMENTS

A picture described as the world's funniest comedy comes to the Met theater today. It is "Rookies" with Karl Dane and George K. Arthur featured as a new comedy team with Marceline Day in the leading feminine role. Sam Wood directed this new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer success from a story and continuity by Byron Morgan.

"Rookies" tells an exceedingly amusing tale of life in a citizens' military training camp. Dane has the role of a hard-boiled top-sergeant whose rival for the hand of Marceline Day is a scrubby young private played in inimitable fashion by George K. Arthur. The warfare between these two is carried on thru scenes of alternate laughter and terror, as many episodes take place in a runaway balloon above the clouds.

Cooperation from the United States government in staging this production has made possible an authentic and graphic background of military life in the training camps.

KEEPING QUALITIESMakes Bacon and Ham Summer Favorites.

During the summer months, keeping foods in good condition is an important consideration. Perhaps refrigeration facilities are inadequate; perhaps the supplies for a camping trip are under discussion; at any rate the problem is to provide foods which will not spoil readily. Because of their excellent keeping qualities ham and bacon come at the head of the list. Besides, these meats blend well with other foods; in fact, they often enhance the flavor of dishes which might otherwise be flat and tasteless.

A cool, dry place is best for keeping these meats, either before or after cooking. If part of a ham is cut off and used, brush the exposed surface of the remainder with a little vinegar. Pickled vinegar, if on hand, is still better, as it adds desirable flavor.

If ham or bacon is to be carried some distance to a camp, it should be well wrapped in heavy oil paper, with an outer covering of cloth.

"Betty" Dress, Designed for the Little Misses

The hollyhock pockets on the dress are the irresistible feature of "Betty," a new Woman's Home Companion dress for little girls. They are applied in deep rose on pale pink or in deep blue on pale blue and each flower is designed to hold a tiny kerchief. Neck and sleeves are bound in the deeper color in each case.

Women's Fancy Hosiery Profits the Gas Man

Women's fads and fancies often are the basis of success of large businesses. The prevalent fancy for light-colored stockings, fancy scarfs and fabric gloves are responsible for a great increase in the use of hot water and of gas, according to a survey made by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Sudden and large increases in the use of gas in many cities and towns caused gas company officials to become curious as to the cause of the water heaters working overtime and occasioned the house-to-house survey.

According to the survey stockings of light hue are changed several times a day, sometimes oftener if the weather is stormy. Washable gloves are changed at least once a day and twice if there is an evening engagement. Both stockings and gloves are invariably washed at home in hot water. Thus, the fancy is good for the gas company.

Scarfs and bobbed hair are responsible for a further increase in the use of hot water and of gas, not to mention various articles of female apparel, the survey states.

Feather Flowers WellLiked by Paris Women

Of accessories that are smart in Paris just now, it is perhaps worth noting that boutonnières continue much in the limelight, and that Parisiennes take kindly to feather flowers, which, it is reported over here, are not so well liked. All of the shops appear to show them in profusion, and one sees a number worn, particularly carnations, although they now come in every conceivable sort of flower, even tiny field blossoms.

The shops are also said to be selling a considerable number of the really pink suede gloves that Alexandrine brought out some time ago. One does not, however, see many of them worn, women continuing to prefer a more beige cast to match their stockings. Illustrative of how much attention is paid to the matter of making one's stockings harmonize with the rest of one's costumes, Mme. Yteb was seen recently at the Ritz in a black satin dress that had a loose scarf panel faced in a deep burnt beige, almost brown, to match her stockings.

May Show Elbows and Still Be in Fashion

During the past few seasons it seemed that a woman could show as much of her leg as she pleased but woe be unto the female who showed an arm above the wristwatch! Arms were considered decidedly vulgar for street purposes even during the warmest summer weather.

Now, however, one may display a dimpled elbow if one wishes. The censors have turned thumbs up when it comes to sleeves this year. Many of the better class sports frocks are sleeveless. But, even now, one must sneak up on the sleeveless vogue for though the frock is sleeveless the accompanying jacket is certain to be long sleeved.

Trouser Skirts Likely to Receive Approval

Wise heads which thought that the outburst of trouser skirts earlier in the season was only a form of spring madness now foresee a serious movement towards divided skirts. As long as women wear their skirts on a level with their knees the problem of how to preserve a modest appearance when seated in a low, easy chair must be dealt with.

Dressmakers continue to herald trousers as the solution. The midsummer collections, as well as the advance autumn styles retain the divided and knickerbocker skirt ideas. Many skirts which are not divided have matching knickers beneath them.

St. Joseph, Mich., (UP.)—Mysterious circumstances alleged by states' witnesses to have surrounded the death July 3rd, 1913, of Mrs. Bessie Wheeler Caudi on High Island were denied in court here by Charles Caudi, 32, her husband.

Why Mince Words?

This is the open season when automobile manufacturers go gunning for buyers. Read the extravagant claims... the boasts... the adjectives and superlatives. You are entitled to the facts. Every high priced, largest-type car has lost sales this year. Although several of the smaller, low-priced cars show gains, the industry as a whole shows a loss as this is written. Yet in contrast Auburn in the first 5½ months of this year built as many cars as all of last year. And in 1926 Auburn doubled its production over 1925. New type merchandise, of greater value for less money did it. Cars that perform better, ride and drive easier and endure longer did it. The Straight Eight type of car is the undisputed leader today. No Straight Eight is more successful than Auburn. Facts prove it, in the hands of owners as well as in official contests conducted by the American Automobile Association. The reasons for Auburn's extraordinary success are all built into the car itself. We claim it is the greatest value on the market..... bar none..... and will let the car itself prove it with you at the wheel.

BYRD DELAYS HOP

Won't Attempt South Pole Flight Until 1928, Flyer Says.

New York, Aug. 5.—(UP.)—The south pole expedition which will be headed by Commander Richard E. Byrd, trans-Atlantic aviator, has been postponed until 1928.

Commander Byrd and his backers decided against hasty preparation and the start, originally scheduled for this fall, thus has been set back. The flyer intends to take 30 men with him.

Bernt Balchen, member of the crew of the monoplane America in the flight to France, will leave on Monday for Norway to obtain the services of men skilled in every phase of arctic ice and snow work.

Wool Sold as Cheese

A previous experience caused a recent auction of wool in London to be postponed because of fog. On one occasion, in 1912, fog was so thick that a large quantity of wool was sold as cheese, the wool market being closed, and so it will be henceforth during heavy fogs, according to a correspondent of the Sydney Bulletin.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF OHIO. No. 5518.

In the Matter of
Floyd Shaw, Bankrupt.

IN BANKRUPTCY.

To the Honorable Benson W. Hough, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio.

Floyd Shaw, of Circleville, in the County of Pickaway and State of Ohio, in said District, respectfully represents:

That on the 15th day of December last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the Acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said Acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore He Prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said Bankrupt Acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 25th day of April, A. D. 1927.

FLOYD SHAW,
Bankrupt.

Southern District of Ohio, County of Pickaway, ss.

Floyd Shaw being duly sworn deposes and says, that he is the petitioner named in the foregoing petition, that he has read the same and knows the contents thereof; that the same is true to the knowledge of deponent, except as to those matters therein stated to be alleged on information and belief, and as to those matters he believes it to be true.

FLOYD SHAW.

Sworn to before me this 25th day of April, 1927.

M. C. SEYFERT,

Southern District of Ohio, ss:

On this 3d day of June, A. D., 1927 on reading the foregoing petition, it is Ordered by the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 14th day of October, A. D., 1927, before said court, at Columbus in said District, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Union-Herald a newspaper printed in said District, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the same time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is Further Ordered by the Court, that the Clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness the Honorable
B. W. HOUGH,
Judge of said Court and the seal thereof, at Columbus, in said District on the 3d day of June, A. D., 1927.

THE HOME OF W. A. ANDERSON

In Pickaway Township Has Been Entered Twice Within the Past Two Weeks.

The home of W. A. Anderson on the Harry Montelius farm in Pickaway township, has been the scene of two daring robberies within the past week. Clothing and some jewelry have been taken and it is thought the thieves are members of a gang of workers in an Norfolk & Western camp near this farm.

The first time the thieves entered the house was Thursday evening, one week ago, between 7 and 8 o'clock when Mrs. Anderson and her children with Wenrich Arledge, who is employed by Mr. Anderson, had gone into town for some supplies and as Mr. Anderson came into the house from the barn after watering the stock he heard some one but thought it was Mr. Arledge whom he did not know had accompanied the family. He also heard the man come down the stairs and go out the back door and the theft was not discovered until the return of the family when the Arledge boy found his clothing gone. Mr. Anderson then discovered that all his personal belongings had been taken. The Arledge boy also lost a class ring to the thieves upon this visit.

On Thursday evening of this week, Mr. Montelius was returning to his home from the Andersons' at about 6 o'clock in the evening when he noticed two colored men attempting to place a ladder against his house to the window of the upper story. When he called to them they fled. Sheriff Davis and his deputies and a number of the neighbors then formed a posse and endeavored to find the thieves but they eluded them, escaping through a cornfield.

Between 1 and 2 o'clock Friday morning Mr. Arledge was awakened by some one trying to enter his room and when he called to him thinking it was Mr. Anderson, the man fled. He then aroused the family and Mr. Anderson found the dresser drawers in his own room had been ransacked and his watch and some change pilfered from his pocket at the side of his bed. The thieves had made preparations for this raid as the distributor wires in the Anderson machine had been cut as well as the telephone wires.

A search of the basement brought to light the fact that one of the thieves had changed clothing there as an old pair of shoes and a shirt were found. It is thought that entrance was gained through the coal chute into the basement.

While endeavoring to track the thieves yesterday morning, Mr. Anderson found that they traveled a rather circuitous course through the cornfield. By going straight through for about 8 rows they would back-track almost the same number and then take another course, this had been done a number of times until they reached the pasture field where all tracks were lost.

The family of Mr. Anderson are all suffering from the nervous shock sustained from these nocturnal visits.

LONG RANGE AIR COMPETITION

Inquiries received by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reveal a growing interest in many cities, stimulated, no doubt, by Col. Lindbergh's flight, in the possibilities of air transport. Commercial organizations are beginning to ask themselves what the future will bring forth and what steps may be taken to reap the harvest of this development, recognizing that port and terminal facilities oftentimes determines the course transportation takes.

In response to these inquiries the Transportation Department of the National Chamber suggests that it is the part of wisdom to acquire sites for airports, by lease or option, if not by purchase, in order that the necessary ports may be established when they are needed.

"The selection of an airport site," it recommends, "should be definitely linked with city planning. Nearness to the business center and accessibility to the public are of prime importance, and due account should be taken of local transportation and communication facilities. Ground communication by rail, motor or launch should be as rapid as possible in order that the benefit of air speed may not be lost.

"Zoning as well as city's planning should be considered. The area adjacent to a landing field will probably have a commercial or industrial development and the height of buildings surrounding the field will be a factor in its usefulness."

Drove Hard Bargain

A man tells this story of his college days:

He was accosted on the street one day by a stranger who offered to sell at a bargain a ring which he said he had found in the washroom of a hotel. The ring had a large stone set. The stranger asked $5 for the ring, but after much haggling took 25 cents.

The student put on his new mark of opulence and went down to the college with the expectation of making an impression, but on arriving, he found others had made similar bargains, paying from 10 cents to $4.

Chinese "Venice"

Soochow, one of the oldest and most famous cities in China, is known as the "Venice of the Far East," because of the large number of canals with which it is intersected.

Home Furnished Payne Inspiration for Song

The old farmhouse at Easthampton, Long Island, which was the inspiration of the famous song, "Home, Sweet Home," is to be sold, and its fate remains uncertain. John Howard Payne, the author of the song, spent his boyhood years in the staunch old structure, which is said to have been built 267 years ago by a Robert Dayton. When in later life, Payne became an actor and author, memories of his life on the farm inspired the well-known words of the famous song, first sung in his long-forgotten opera, "The Maid of Milan." The weather-beaten old house nestles under huge shade trees, and presents a pretty picture, but its chief value is sentimental. The community in which it stands was founded by English settlers, who called their village Maidstone, after the English town from which they came.

Nature's Regulation

Although there are from twenty to sixty more male babies than female babies in every 1,000 babies born, there are more women than men in the civilized countries of the world, according to an answered question in Liberty. This is because more male babies die in infancy, and men are more liable than women to death by accident.

NO TEACHERS, SCHOOLS CLOSE

Australia has a shortage of teachers, and many schools have been forced to close. In Victoria more than 300 are needed, and 30 county schools are having enforced vacations. To cope with the situation the department of education is employing 100 married women, mostly former instructors. The teachers' union explains that low salaries, many receiving less than $15 a week, and unreasonable restrictions, have caused many teachers to resign. Officials are considering salary increases.

for pipes and nothing else

TOBACCOS which are made both for rolling cigarettes and for pipes are cut fine . . . you might say they are fine for cigarettes but too fine for pipes. For the finer the cut, the faster (and hotter) it burns.

Granger Tobacco, cut for pipes only, and mellowed by an old-time tobacco secret . . .

burns more slowly
lasts longer and
smokes cooler

A WORD ABOUT LOADING YOUR PIPE: Instead of pouring Granger in as you would a granulated cut, put in a third of a pipeful, press it down firmly, then another third; then heaping full. Light it around the edges as well as in the middle . . . and you're all set for a long, cool smoke . . .

Doctor Dresses Own Injuries, Saves Baby

New York.—Diphtheria of the larynx threatened to choke the life out of Jane, the baby daughter of Policeman Hugo G. Geissele, Maplewood, N. J.

An immediate operation, known as "intubation," was all that could save her; Dr. D. J. Pola, ten miles away, started to Jane's bedside in an ambulance, with Miss Marion Raitzel, a nurse, and Gustave Schmidt, driver. Another vehicle cut across Schmidt's course. The ambulance swerved and crashed into a steel trolley pole, a complete wreck. Its occupants were severely cut and battered.

The young physician, nevertheless, applied emergency dressing to his companions' injuries and his own, then commandeered an automobile, which rushed him and the nurse to the Geissele home. He and Doctor Demarest successfully operated on the baby.

Mistaken pedagogy that seeks to force the left-handed child to right-handedness is responsible for a tragically large number of cases of stuttering in American schools, according to a survey of the National Protective League for Stammerers, made public in Indianapolis by Benjamin N. Bogue, president, and one of the country's leading authorities on speech.

"Attempted correction of the use of the left hand is the starting point of speech defects in thousands of boys and girls between 6 and 14 years of age," the survey states. "Stuttering and stammering are much more serious than defective articulation and give a darker outlook for improvement or cure, in that with the confirmed stutterer institutional care is a primary essential.

"Too strong emphasis can not be placed on the peril of attempting to develop by undue stress a right-handed boy or girl from a left-handed one, for, while the essential cause of left-handedness remains in some doubt, there is good reason to believe it is a deep-seated anatomic one. Such a cause obviously can not yield to training.

Police Take Kick Out of Limehouse Nights

London.—American tourists who come to London with an idea of finding adventure in "wild and woolly" Limehouse are doomed to disappointment.

That picturesque section of the London dock district is no longer the place Hollywood motion pictures portray. The Shanghai cafe, one of the last business establishments to "sell Limehouse atmosphere" to tourists, has nailed up its front door on Limehouse causeway and moved to Soho where it can depend on a regular clientele for its chop suey.

Americans report to their tourist agencies that they are disgusted with the quiet evenings they have wasted in Limehouse looking for excitement. Cester boys with dirty necks and muffers instead of collars and ties are the most picturesque things they see, and an evening spent in the neighborhood is as quiet as a Sunday school festival.

Those who hanker for "the good old days" when crimes were frequent should blame it on Inspector Hall, who has just retired from the criminal investigation department of Scotland Yard.

He is known as the man who cleaned up Limehouse. Ten years ago Inspector Hall took charge of the dock district. At that time Limehouse was infested with criminals of every nationality, and every street had its opium dens and white slave dives.

Iona is a small island of the Hebrides off the west coast of Scotland. According to tradition it was here that St. Columba landed with twelve disciples from Ireland and founded a monastery about the year 563. Iona became a great missionary center.

ALL OHIO BAND THREE HUNDRED YOUNG PLAYERS

Will Furnish Music at State Fair—Chance to Enter the Big Blow is Yet Open.

The All-Ohio State Fair band will again be back at the Ohio State fair, August 29 to September 3, under the direction of J. W. Wainwright, of Fostoria. This announcement was made by Director of Agriculture C. V. Truax.

Different sections of the band are at present practicing at a summer camp at Oliver Lake, LaGrange, Indiana, where they are under the instructions of Wainwright, Guy V. Sutphen, of Toledo, and Superintendent Clark, of the Kenton public schools. Sutphen is assistant music director of the camp and Clark is the director.

Four days before the opening of the fair, the entire group of three hundred boys will be assembled at the fair grounds, where they will spend their time organizing for the activities of the week. They will practice as one large unit and will also be divided into several smaller organizations. Each of these will be under the leadership of one of the assistant directors and will play at different places in the grounds. These boys will form a town of their own at the fair grounds, with a complete organization. They will be housed in tents and cooks provided to prepare their meals.

The fair this fall marks the fourth year that patrons have been privileged to hear an All-Ohio band. In 1924, a high school band contest was conducted over the entire state by the Ohio State fair management. Six organizations judged to be the best in Ohio were taken to Columbus at the expense of the State fair, and encamped on the grounds during the entire week. They played each day and were judged in their six-day performance.

For the past three years, Wainwright has visited Ohio high schools and selected individuals for the All-Ohio band, judging them on their individual merit. The same procedure is being followed this year, only the musicians of unusual ability being selected.

All those who still desire to enter the band may apply to J. W. Wainwright, box 75, Fostoria, Ohio.

FOLKSBURG ITEMS

Among other things we've been needing rain in Folksburg lately, and looks like we're going to get it soon. Right now a big black cloud is heaving up over the hill toward Blue River. The edges are tumbling over and over, and there's a lot of mumbly thunder that's getting louder all the time. It's coming fast. The neighbors are beginning to call the children and running to shut the windows and bring in the cushions off of the porch swings.

Joe Dodds, who has been making a prolonged effort to sell his automobile, drove up to the city last Saturday thinking maybe he could dispose of it. And he could have sold it to a firm up there, but they didn't offer him quite enough to pay his railroad fare back, so he kept it to come home in.

It's been noticed around town how Sam Solomon's boy, Bennie, wears his coat nearly all the time no matter how hot it is. And when somebody asked him why that was, Sam said the coat is going to be too small by another year, and he wants Bennie to get all the wear out of it he can.

Ben Hobson, who has been putting off painting his garage ever since he built it, jumped at a chance last week to let some sign painters from the city paint a big sign all over the east side of it.

Jason Crabb was called on the phone yesterday and asked would he move some rubbish he had piled in the alley by his house, and which had nearly blocked up the road. Jason said tolerably abruptly that he wouldn't, but when he was informed that it was Marshal Bailey speaking, he reconsidered quick and said he would.

Uncle Bill Bobbitt got a letter the other day from somebody off from here that wanted to sell him stock in an oil well and they said being it was him they wanted to let him in on the ground floor. And Uncle Bill said he appreciated their thoughtfulness, but he imagined if he was to buy much stock like that he soon would have the ground for a floor.

The town pump at the postoffice corner was out of order one of the hottest days last week, and several thought Leander Martin, who runs an ice cream stand nearby, had something to do with it. We don't know about that, but he did do a big business in pop while the water supply was off.

Grover Morgan and his wife took a portion of their relatives out for an automobile ride Saturday afternoon, and Mrs. Morgan was put in considerable suspense until they got back home. Some of the folks kept pointing out things to look at and Mrs. Morgan was afraid it would divert Grover's mind, which she knew he didn't have any to spare for his driving.

While Andrew Allen was waiting in the barber shop yesterday he started advising how people oughtn't ever let themselves get upset over little things, and he said he had himself under control so he could always stay calm. And while he was talking somebody took his turn in the barber chair by mistake, and as soon as Andrew noticed it, he rushed out tolerably huffy saying something about he'd shave himself from then on.

Alce Powers was speaking recently how some people can't take an interest in anything unless there's something in it for them. And he said they're losing a lot by being that way, for if they only knew it, nobody takes much interest in them. Zeno Rogers, who has been trying all kinds of remedies to reduce his weight, gained three more pounds last week.

That rain which we spoke of is here and we're being called to know have we attended to our regular duty of putting all the pans under the leaks. Which we haven't, so it looks like we'll have to stop at this point.

Caters to Motorists; Pastor Fills Church

London.—"Sunday motorists who wish to call in at my church can park their cars in the drive and use my garden," announced Rev. W. H. Ridgway, vicar of Tarvin, recently.

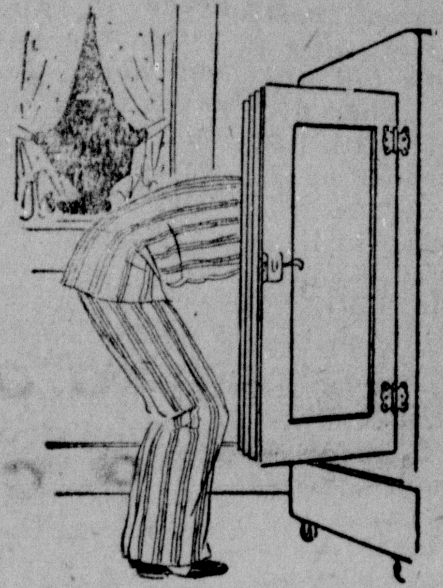

As a result of the invitation, which includes the right for motorists who accept to have their lunch in the vicar's garden after attending services at the church, every Sunday there is a long row of motor cars in the rectory drive; and the vicar preaches to a crowded church.

Vicar Ridgway's idea also encourages motorists from the city to visit the ancient churches in the neighborhood through which they pass and, with this object in view, the vicar is planning to form a sort of motoring guild of which regular members will be a nucleus of sporting churchgoers.

Those on the inside say congress wants relief from the farmers quite as badly as the farmers want relief from congress.
